6.—(1) The following persons have, by virtue of this subsection,

(4) A document purporting to be a copy of an immigration policy statement and certified as such by or on behalf of the Minister shall, unless the contrary of either is shown, be received in evidence and deemed to be an immigration policy statement without proof.

10.—(1) Every decision under this Act, being a decision to which policy set out in an immigration policy statement is relevant, shall be made in accordance with that policy.

(2) Subsection (1) does not, however, extend to—

(a) a decision made by the Government themselves or the Minister himself or herself, or

(b) a decision made on grounds which consist of or include public security, public health or public policy (“ordre public”).

(3) Nothing in this Act obliges the Government or the Minister to make any decision themselves or, as the case may be, himself or herself.

(a) the making of decisions by the Government themselves are references to the making of collective decisions personally by the members of the Government appointed under the Constitution, and

(b) the making of decisions by the Minister himself or herself are references to decisions made personally by the Minister, as distinct from decisions made on behalf of the Government or the Minister or by virtue of any enactment or rule of law which attributes to the Government or a Minister decisions made by public servants or officials.

PART 3
Visas

11.—(1) An Irish visa (in this Act referred to as a “visa”) is a certificate stating that the foreign national identified in it is permitted by the Government, to be present at a frontier of the State for the purpose of seeking permission to enter the State—

(a) within such period,

(b) for such purpose, and

(c) on such or so many occasions, as are specified in the certificate.

(2) A visa is valid only if—

(a) it is affixed to a passport or other travel document and that passport or document—

(i) identifies the foreign national to whom it relates and states his or her nationality, and

(ii) was issued by or on behalf of an authority recognised for the purposes of this section by the Government and, if it has been renewed, was renewed by such an authority, or

(b) it complies with regulations made by the Minister.

(3) In addition to the information set out in subsection (1) a visa may contain such other information as respects the foreign national to whom the visa relates, including biometric and any other information the Minister considers appropriate.

(4) A visa does not, of itself, entitle the foreign national to whom it relates to enter or be present in the State except to the extent provided by subsection (1).

(5) Nothing in this Act affects the discretion of the Government or the Minister in deciding whether to grant or revoke a visa, to make it subject to any condition or to revoke any condition to which it is subject.

12.—(1) An Irish transit visa (in this Act referred to as “transit visa”) is a certificate stating that the foreign national identified in it is permitted by the Government to arrive at a port in the State for the purpose of passing through the port in order to travel to another state.

(2) Subsections (2), (3) and (5) of section 11 apply in respect of a transit visa as they apply in respect of a visa.
Designation of individuals as visa-exempt.

(3) A transit visa does not, of itself, entitle the foreign national to whom it relates to enter or be present in the State, except to the extent provided by subsection (1).

(4) Sections 13 to 19 apply in respect of a transit visa as they apply in respect of a visa and, in that application, the reference in section 13(1) to being present at the frontier of the State for the purpose set out in section 11 shall be construed as a reference to arriving at a port in the State for the purposes set out in subsection (1), and the reference in section 13 to a “visa-exempt foreign national” shall be construed as a reference to “transit visa exempt foreign national”.

13.—(1) This section applies where the Government designate a foreign national or a class or classes of foreign national as exempt from the need to have a visa in order to be permitted to be present at the frontiers of the State for the purpose set out in section 11(1) and who is therefore treated as permitted to be there for that purpose.

(2) A foreign national who is so designated or is in a class so designated is, in this Act, referred to as a “visa-exempt foreign national”.

(3) The power of designation referred to in subsection (1) may be exercised by the Minister by order.

(4) The power of designation referred to in subsection (1) may be exercised by reference to any factors the Government consider appropriate including—

(a) nationality,

(b) age,

(c) purpose of entry to and presence in the State,

(d) duration of that presence,

(e) occupation,

(f) diplomatic status,

(g) immigration status (whether in the State or another state),

(h) any combination of the factors by reference to which that power may be exercised.

(5) It is not an objection to the exercise of the power of designation referred to in subsection (1) that the same person may, in some circumstances, be a visa-exempt foreign national and, in others, not be.

14.—(1) In the exercise of the Government’s power to issue visas—

(a) the Minister may receive and consider applications for visas (“visa applications”), and

(b) the Minister may prescribe—

(i) forms in which visa applications are to be made, and
(ii) fees which are to be paid at the same time as they are made.

(2) In the exercise of the Government’s power to issue visas, the Minister may prescribe circumstances in which a visa application is to be accompanied by—

(a) a deposit or bond, or

(b) a guarantee given to the Minister by a guarantor in respect of a deposit or bond.

(3) A deposit is a sum of money paid to the Minister of such amount as is fixed by the Minister in respect of the visa application that the deposit accompanies.

(4) A bond is a contract for the payment to the Minister of such amount as is fixed by the Minister in respect of the visa application that the bond accompanies.

(5) A guarantee is an undertaking that if the applicant—

(a) is permitted to enter and be present in the State, and

(b) does not comply with a condition under which the permission to enter and be present in the State is given, then the deposit will be forfeited to the Minister or, as the case may be, the bond will be implemented so that the sum of money fixed in relation to it will be paid to the Minister.

(6) A guarantor must be resident in the State and be—

(a) an Irish citizen, or

(b) if not an Irish citizen—

(i) the holder of a long-term residence permit, or

(ii) a person who has been a citizen of a Member State (or States) for at least 5 years, and has resided in the State for at least 5 years.

(7) The Minister is not obliged to determine a visa application which is—

(a) not in the prescribed form,

(b) not accompanied by the prescribed fee,

(c) not accompanied by an appropriate travel document, or

(d) made in circumstances prescribed under subsection (2) and is not accompanied by the deposit, bond or guarantee referred to in that subsection.

(8) The Minister may waive all or any part of a sum to be forfeited or paid under subsection (5) or refund all or any part of a sum so forfeited or paid.

(9) The Minister may refund a deposit if satisfied that the applicant to whom the deposit relates will not enter the State or, having Determination of visa applications.

(10) The different provision which may be made in the prescription of fees under subsection (1)(b)(ii) (as read with section 101(4)) may include the prescription of different fees for visas of different classes and those visas may be classified for that purpose by any factors or combination of factors the Minister thinks fit including—

(a) the reason for entering or being present in the State,
(b) the number of entries into the State,
(c) nationality of the applicant,
(d) the place where the application for the visa is made,
(e) the method of application for the visa,
(f) whether the applicant has or has previously had permission to enter and be present in the State,
(g) circumstances of priority or urgency,
(h) the likely effect a particular fee, if prescribed, will have on demand for a visa among persons of a particular class,
(i) the likelihood, in the opinion of the Minister, that an individual or individuals would not comply with the conditions of permission to enter and be present in the State.

15.—(1) It is for the applicant for a visa (the “visa applicant”) to establish to the satisfaction of the Minister that the visa applicant should be granted a visa.

(2) Where, under section 14, the Minister is not obliged to, and decides not to, determine a visa application, the Minister—

(a) shall inform the visa applicant accordingly,
(b) need not refund any fee which accompanied the application, and no application for a visa review under section 18 shall be entertained.

(3) The Minister may, before determining a visa application, make or cause to be made such inquiries as he or she considers appropriate.

(4) Subsection (3) implies no obligation to make any inquiry but this subsection is without prejudice to any obligation deriving from an immigration policy statement.

(5) There are included in the matters to which the Minister is to have regard when determining a visa application—

(a) whether the applicant has met any liability for costs under section 55, and
(b) any other information the Minister considers relevant even though not provided by the applicant in, or in connection with, the application.

(6) The information referred to in subsection (5)(b) extends to any information available to the Government or any other information holder in the State, and nothing in this Act prevents the Government or that other information holder from making that information available to the Minister for the purposes of that provision.

(7) Nothing in this section implies any obligation on the Minister to grant a visa.

(8) The Minister shall refuse to grant a visa application if he or she considers its refusal to be justified.

(9) The following are examples of reasons why the Minister may consider a refusal justified: that in his or her opinion—

(a) the purpose stated in the application for which entry to and presence in the State is sought is not true;

(b) presence in the State is sought for a finite time and the applicant’s connections with his or her place of residence or country of nationality are not sufficient to satisfy the Minister that the applicant will leave the State at the end of that time;

(c) the applicant would be unlikely to be able in the State to support himself or herself and any accompanying dependants;

(d) any information provided by the applicant, with or in connection with the application is false, misleading or internally inconsistent;

(e) the applicant has not complied with an obligation imposed on him or her by or under this Act to provide information in, or in connection with, the visa application;

(f) any—

(i) conduct of the applicant or any member of his or her family in connection with immigration (whether or not to the State), or

(b) ensures that only the visa applicant or his or her representative can ascertain (whether or not by means of other information separately supplied to him or her) the identity of the visa applicant to whom the notice relates.

(3) Subsection (1) does not oblige the Minister to disclose information the disclosure of which, in his or her opinion, would be prejudicial to public security or public policy (“ordre public”).

(4) The Minister may not, without the consent referred to in subsection (5), disclose under subsection (1) any information supplied to him or her by or on behalf of the government of another state in accordance with an express or implied undertaking given to that government that the information is to be kept confidential.

Revocation of visas.

17.—(1) The Minister may revoke a visa if he or she considers its revocation to be justified.

(2) The following are examples of reasons why the Minister may consider a revocation justified: that in the opinion of the Minister—

(a) the visa was granted on the basis of information (including information about the purpose of entry or presence) which was false, incomplete or otherwise misleading;

(b) the presence in the State or arrival at its frontiers of the holder of the visa would not be conducive to the public good;

(c) circumstances existing at the time when the visa was granted have changed and the nature of the change is such that, had the new circumstances existed at that time, the visa would not have been granted;

(d) the visa was granted in error.
(3) (a) Where the Minister revokes a visa, he or she shall take all reasonable steps to inform the holder as soon as possible.

(b) Within 10 working days of being informed that his or her visa has been revoked, the holder of the revoked visa may apply to the Minister for the reason or reasons for the revocation.

(c) On receipt of an application under paragraph (b) the Minister shall cause notice of the reason or reasons referred to in that paragraph to be given to the holder as soon as possible.

(d) the requirement in paragraph (c) shall, without prejudice to other means of meeting it, be met by the placing of the notice on the internet in a way that—

(i) makes it accessible only to the visa applicant or his or her representative, or

(ii) ensures that only the visa applicant or his or her representative can ascertain (whether or not by means of other information separately supplied) the identity of the visa applicant to whom the notice relates.

(e) Subsections (3) to (5) of section 16 shall apply in relation to the disclosure of information under this section as they apply to the disclosure of information under that section.

(4) This section does not apply—

(a) to a visa, or

(a) it is made by or on behalf of the person whose application for a visa was refused or whose visa was revoked,

(b) it is made within 21 days of the notification referred to in section 16(1), or as the case may be, section 17(3)(c),

(b) of a grade senior to that person.

(5) Subsection (4)(b) does not apply if its application would be impracticable.

(6) The visa review officer may, before reaching a decision on a review under this section, make or cause to be made such inquiries as he or she considers appropriate.

(7) Subsection (6) implies no obligation to make any inquiry, but this subsection is without prejudice to any obligation deriving from an immigration policy statement.

(8) There is included in the matters to which the visa review officer is to have regard when reaching a decision on a review under this section any information the officer considers relevant even though not provided by the applicant in, or in connection with, the application for the review.

(9) The information referred to in subsection (8) extends to any information available to the Government or any other information holder in the State; and nothing in this Act prevents the Government or the other information holder from making that information available to the visa review officer for the purposes of that provision.

19.—(1) A visa review officer shall, on carrying out a review under section 18, either—

(a) confirm the visa refusal or visa revocation, or

(b) set it aside.

(2) A confirmation under subsection (1)(a) may be on the same grounds as the visa refusal or visa revocation or on other grounds (or partly on the same ground, and partly on other grounds) and, where it is (or is partly) on other grounds, those other grounds shall be substituted for or added to the grounds of the visa refusal or visa revocation.

(3) Where under subsection (1)(a), the visa review officer confirms a visa refusal or visa revocation, the Minister shall give notice to the applicant of the confirmation and the reasons for it.
(4) The requirement in subsection (3) shall, without prejudice to other means of meeting it, be met by the placing of the notice on the internet in a way that—

(a) makes it accessible only to the visa applicant or his or her representative, or

(b) ensures that only the visa applicant or his or her representative can ascertain (whether or not by means of other information separately supplied) the identity of the visa applicant to whom the notice relates.

(5) Subsections (3) to (5) of section 16 apply in relation to the disclosure or non-disclosure of information under subsection (3) of this section as they apply to the disclosure and non-disclosure of information under that section.

(6) Where under subsection (1)(b), the review officer sets aside a visa refusal or visa revocation, the Minister shall cause a visa to be affixed to the passport or other travel document of the applicant.

(7) This section is without prejudice to the Government’s inherent power to grant or refuse a visa application or to revoke a visa.

20.—(1) The Minister may make arrangements with the Minister for Foreign Affairs under which the Minister’s functions in relation to the consideration and determination of visa applications and reviews under section 18 (or some of them) may be carried out also by the Minister for Foreign Affairs.

(2) Where, under those arrangements, the Minister for Foreign Affairs is carrying out these functions, references to the Minister in these sections shall be read, so far as they relate to those functions, as references to the Minister for Foreign Affairs.

(c) a statement that if no representations are made by the permit holder within 15 working days, the permit shall be discontinued from the date specified in the notice.

(3) The permit holder may make representations in the prescribed manner to the Minister within 15 working days of the sending to him or her of the notification.

(4) If no such representations are duly received—

(a) the permit shall be deemed to be discontinued, and

(b) the Minister may proceed to make any expulsion order mentioned in subsection (2)(b).

(5) If the permit holder leaves the State before the Minister implements a proposal under subsection (1) and provides the Minister with verifiable evidence of his or her leaving the State—

(a) the Minister may discontinue the residence permit, but

(b) either, as the Minister considers appropriate in the circumstances of the case—

(i) the Minister shall make no expulsion order, or

(ii) the duration of the expulsion order made will be no longer than a period (in this section the “reduced exclusion duration”) specified in the notification made under subsection (1), being a period shorter than the proposed exclusion duration included in the notification.

(6) If the permit holder, within 15 working days of the sending to him or her of the notification, agrees to the discontinuance of the residence permit and the making of the order, the Minister shall thereupon, subject to section 51, arrange for the removal of the person from the State as soon as practicable.

(7) (a) In determining whether to discontinue a residence permit in accordance with this section whether or not along with making an expulsion order, the Minister shall have regard to all representations duly made to him or her and in doing so shall, subject to paragraph (b), have regard to the following matters:

(a) the date on which the period within which representations under subsection (3) may be made expires;

(b) if representations under subsection (3) are duly made, the date of the notification under subsection (10), although the residence permit has earlier expired.
(10) The Minister, having considered the matters set out in subsection (7), shall notify the holder of a residence permit, in writing, of his or her decision as to whether the residence permit is to be discontinued.

(11) Where necessary and possible, the Minister shall also provide the person notified under subsection (10) with a copy of the notification written in a language that he or she understands.

(12) A decision to discontinue a residence permit has effect as from the date when the notification of the decision was received or deemed to have been received under section 102.

(a) the permit holder has held a residence permit or permits for a continuous period of at least 5 years, and

(b) the notification under subsection (10) is to the effect that the Minister intends to discontinue the permit, the decision has effect on the expiry of a period of 3 months after the date referred to in subsection (12).

(14) Subsection (13) does not apply in a case where—

(a) the Minister is of the opinion that it would be prejudicial to public security or public policy (“ordre public”) that the person notified should remain in the State during the period of 3 months referred to in that subsection, and

(b) a statement to that effect by the Minister is included in or with the notification.

(15) Any reference in this section to the disclosure of information by the Minister is subject to subsections (3) and (4) of section 106.

(3) Subsections (2) to (6) of section 42 shall apply in respect of a proposal to discontinue a protection residence permit and of the notification referred to in subsection (1) and, in that application, “notification”, “residence permit” and “permit holder” shall be construed accordingly.
(4) In determining whether to discontinue a protection residence permit under this section (whether or not along with making an expulsion order or granting any other kind of residence permit), the Minister shall have regard to all representations duly made to him or her and in doing so shall have regard to the matters listed in paragraphs (a) to (b) of subsection (7) of section 42.

(8) A decision to discontinue a protection residence permit has effect:

(a) where no appeal to the High Court is brought against the decision of the Minister, from the date when the period for making such an appeal expires; or

(b) where an appeal to the High Court is brought against the decision of the Minister, from the date of the final determination or, as the case may be, the withdrawal of that appeal.

(9) A person shall not be required to leave the State before the expiry of 15 working days from the date of notice of a proposal under subsection (1) and, if an appeal to the High Court is brought against the decision of the Minister, before the final determination or, as the case may be, the withdrawal of that appeal.

(10) Subsection (9) is subject to any entitlement of the person to remain in the State under any other residence permit granted to him or her.

44.—(1) The Minister may, when discontinuing an entry permit or residence permit under section 40 or on the expiry of a protection temporary residence permit, make an order (under this section an “expulsion order”) requiring the person whose entry permit or residence permit has been discontinued or has expired to leave the State and to remain outside it for such period (the “exclusion duration”) as is specified in the expulsion order.

(2) An expulsion order shall be in prescribed form.
(3) An exclusion duration shall have a definite beginning but may otherwise be indefinite.

(4) Where the Minister has,

(a) pursuant to section 41(2), notified the holder of an entry permit or a non-renewable residence permit of his or her decision to make an expulsion order, or

(b) pursuant to section 42(2) or section 43, notified the holder of a residence permit of his proposal to make an expulsion order, the exclusion duration specified in the expulsion order made by the Minister shall not exceed the exclusion duration or the proposed exclusion duration specified in such notification.

(b) whether applications are for the issue of a residence permit (as distinct from its renewal, its replacement or the change of its class or kind),

(c) the need for urgency in dealing with applications,

(d) the timeliness of applications.

(2) The Minister need not consider an application under this Part if the fee prescribed in relation to it is not paid in time.

(4) The Public Offices Fees Act 1879 does not apply as respects a prescribed fee.

(5) The Minister may prescribe circumstances in which the prescribed fees specified in the regulations under this subsection shall not be payable or may be waived; and those circumstances may include those where the application—

(2) A programme refugee shall be given a protection residence permit.

(3) Subject to subsection (4), the Minister may, on an application in writing and on payment to the Minister of such fee (if any) as may be prescribed with the consent of the Minister for Finance, issue to a programme refugee a travel document identifying its holder as a programme refugee.

(4) The Minister may, in the interest of national security or public policy (“ordre public”), refuse to issue a travel document.

(5) A travel document shall be in the prescribed form.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), this section applies to a foreign national to whom, following a Council Decision under Article 5 of the Council Directive establishing the existence of a mass influx of displaced persons, permission to enter and remain in the State for temporary protection as part of a group of persons has been given by the Government and whose personal data (such as name, nationality, date and place of birth, marital status, family relationship) is entered in a register established and maintained by the Minister.

(c) having been convicted by a final judgment of a particularly serious crime, he or she is a danger to the community of the State.

(4) (a) The Minister may exclude a foreign national from temporary protection if there are serious reasons for considering that he or she has committed a serious non-political crime outside the State prior to his or her admission to the State as a person enjoying temporary protection.

(b) In the application of paragraph (a) the Minister shall weigh the severity of the expected persecution against the nature of the criminal offence of which the foreign national concerned is suspected.

(c) This section applies both to the participants in and the persons who have instigated or otherwise are instigators of a crime mentioned in paragraph (a).

(d) For the purposes of this section, “serious non-political crime” includes particularly cruel actions, even if committed with an allegedly political objective.

(5) The Minister shall issue to a foreign national to whom subsection (2) applies—

(c) Sections 40 and 42 shall not apply to a decision to revoke a residence permit under this section.

(7) Where, during the validity of a residence permit issued under subsection (5), a foreign national to whom subsection (2) applies seeks to enter or has entered without authorisation another Member State, the Minister shall, in co-operation with the competent authority of that Member State, make arrangements for the return of the person to the State.

(8) Without prejudice to subsection (6), a foreign national to whom subsection (2) applies shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as if he or she held a protection residence permit.

(9) The Minister shall co-operate with the competent authorities of a Member State in relation to—

(a) the Minister has required the applicant to provide such information as the Minister reasonably requires for the purposes of his or her functions under this section and the applicant has not done so, or

(b) the Minister considers that to issue it would not be in the interests of public health, public security or public policy (“ordre public”).

(3) A travel document shall be in the prescribed form.

49.—(1) Subject to section 40(3) and (4), a holder of a protection residence permit (in this section the “applicant”) may apply to the Minister for permission to be granted to a member of his or her family to enter and to reside in the State.

(2) The Minister shall notify the High Commissioner of the making of an application under subsection (1).

(3) The Minister shall investigate, or cause to be investigated, an application under subsection (1) to determine the relationship between the applicant and the person the subject of the application and the domestic circumstances of the person.

(4) (a) Subject to subsection (6), if the Minister is satisfied that the person the subject of the application is a member of the family of the applicant, the Minister shall grant permission in writing to the person to enter and reside in the State and the person shall be entitled to the rights and privileges specified in section 38 for such period as the applicant is entitled to remain in the State.

(7) The Minister may, on application in writing in that behalf and on payment to the Minister of such fee (if any) as may be prescribed, issue to a person in respect of whom a permission granted under subsection (4) or (5) is in force a travel document identifying the holder thereof as such a person.

PART 6

REMOVAL FROM THE STATE

50.—(1) In this Part, “refoulement” means the sending of a foreign national from the State to a territory where—

(a) in the opinion of the Minister, the life or freedom of the foreign national will be threatened on account of his or her race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group or political opinion, as these terms are construed under section 62,

(b) the Minister has substantial grounds for believing that the foreign national will face a real risk of suffering serious harm, or

(c) the Minister has substantial grounds for believing that the foreign national will be in danger of being subjected to torture or inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment.

(2) Where—

(a) the territory to which a foreign national is sent is his or her destination of choice, or

(b) he or she acquiesces in being sent to that territory, it shall be presumed that his or her being sent there is not a refoulement.

(3) Sending a foreign national to a safe country shall be presumed not to be a refoulement.

(4) The presumptions created by subsections (2) and (3) are rebuttable.

(5) (a) Where a foreign national has made an application for protection which is founded on an expression of his or her fear relating to a particular territory (in this section the “territory of destination”), it shall not be a refoulement to send that foreign national to that territory of destination where—

(i) the foreign national’s application for protection has been refused or withdrawn, or deemed to be withdrawn,

(ii) the foreign national is the holder of a protection residence permit which has expired and has not been renewed,

(iii) the foreign national was the holder of a protection residence permit which has been discontinued for a reason, or reasons which include a reason, which would, under section 63, exclude him or her from being a refugee or a person eligible for subsidiary protection,

(iv) the foreign national has ceased to be a refugee or a person eligible for subsidiary protection under section 72, or

(v) the foreign national is the holder of a protection temporary residence permit which has ceased to be valid.

(b) A representation made by or on behalf of a foreign national to whom paragraph (a) applies that sending him or her to a territory of destination is a refoulement shall be treated, for the purposes of section 84, as a subsequent application for protection.

(7) In this section—

“territory” includes the frontier of a territory,

“freedom” includes freedom from the likelihood of serious assault, including serious assault of a sexual nature,

“torture” has the same meaning as in the Criminal Justice (United Nations Convention against Torture) Act 2000,

“safe country” has the same meaning as in section 87,

“serious harm” has the same meaning as in section 56(1).
(1) Where it appears to an immigration officer or a member of the Garda Síochána that a foreign national is unlawfully present in the State or at a frontier of the State, the officer or member may remove the foreign national from the State.

(2) Subsection (1) is without prejudice to the power under section 5(4)(b) to remove or cause to be removed from the State a foreign national whose presence in the State is unlawful.

(3) A foreign national who is removed under subsection (1) or section 5(4)(b) shall be sent to whichever of the following states the officer or member removing him or her considers appropriate—

(a) the state where he or she last embarked for the State, if that can be ascertained,

(b) where he or she was refused permission to enter the State at a port for the purpose of passing through the port in order to travel to another state, and either—

(i) the carrier who would have taken him or her to that other state has refused to do so, or

(ii) the government of that other state has refused him or her entry into that state and, in consequence, he or she remains in the State or has been returned to the State, the state where he or she last embarked for the State for the purpose referred to in this paragraph,

(c) the state or territory, the government or other authorities of which issued any passport or other travel document held by him or her,

(d) the state or territory of which it appears to the officer or member that he or she is a national, or

(e) any state to which he or she will, in the opinion of the officer or member, be permitted to enter.

(4) A foreign national being removed under this section shall not, however, be sent to a destination if doing so would be a refoulement.

(5) A foreign national being removed under this section—

(a) shall, for the purposes of facilitating his or her removal, co-operate in any way necessary and comply with any directions given to him or her to enable an immigration officer or member of the Garda Síochána to obtain a travel document, ticket for travel or other document required for the purpose of the removal and, in particular, shall comply with any request by the officer or member to sign, or affix his or her fingerprints or other biometric data to, or include them in, any document required for that purpose,

(b) shall not behave in a manner likely to endanger the safety of himself or herself or others in the course of his or her being removed from the State.
(6) A person shall not, by act or omission, obstruct or hinder an immigration officer or a member of the Garda Síochána engaged in the removal of a foreign national under this section.

(7) A parent or guardian of, or other person having charge of or responsibility for a person who is under the age of 18 years and who is being removed from the State under subsection (1) (the “minor”) shall, for the purposes of facilitating the removal of the minor—

(a) on request by an immigration officer or member of the Garda Síochána, use his or her best endeavours to bring the minor to or secure the attendance of the minor at such place as is specified in the request,

(b) co-operate in any way necessary and comply with any directions given to him or her to enable such an officer or member to obtain a travel document, ticket for travel or other documents required for the purpose of the removal of the minor and, in particular, comply with any request by the officer or member to sign any document or have it signed by the minor or to have the minor’s fingerprints or other biometric data affixed to or included in the document.

(8) (a) A person who contravenes subsection (5), (6) or (7) commits an offence.

(b) An immigration officer or a member of the Garda Síochána may arrest without warrant any person whom he or she suspects of having committed an offence under this section.

(9) Without prejudice to sections 22(8)(b), 44 or 96, a foreign national removed under this section shall be ineligible for permission to enter the State for a period of 6 months beginning with the date of his or her removal.

(10) The Minister may, however, on application by the foreign national referred to in subsection (9), direct that all, or such part as is specified in the direction, of the period of 6 months referred to in that subsection shall be disregarded for the purposes of an application by the foreign national for permission to enter the State.

52.—(1) An immigration officer or member of the Garda Síochána may, for the purposes of removing a foreign national from the State under section 51, arrest the foreign national.

(2) A foreign national arrested under subsection (1) may, under the warrant of an immigration officer or member of the Garda Síochána, be detained—

(a) in a prescribed place, being a prison or other place of lawful detention in the charge of a Governor, an immigration officer or member of the Garda Síochána, and

(b) in the custody there of the Governor, officer or member in charge.

(3) The officer or member under whose warrant a foreign national is detained under subsection (2) shall, as soon as practicable—
(a) where the foreign national is detained in a Garda Síochána station, inform the member in charge of the station,

(b) in any other case inform the Governor, or the immigration officer in charge, of the arrest; and that information shall authorise the continued detention of the foreign national.

(4) A foreign national detained under subsection (2) or (3) may, on the direction of an immigration officer or a member of the Garda Síochána, be moved from the prescribed place where the foreign national is—

(a) to another prescribed place of the kind referred to in subsection (2), or

(b) for the purposes of, or a purpose connected with, his or her removal from the State under section 51, to any other place, without interrupting the custody in which he or she is being kept or otherwise affecting its lawfulness.

(5) A foreign national arrested and detained under this section may, subject to subsection (11), be detained only until such time (being as soon as practicable) as he or she is removed from the State in accordance with this section, but in any event may not be detained for a period, in relation to any one removal or attempted removal, exceeding 8 weeks in aggregate.

(6) The following shall be left out of account in calculating any period for the purposes of subsection (5):

(a) any period during which the foreign national is in custody pending a criminal trial or is serving a sentence of imprisonment;

(b) any period during which he or she is on board a vehicle having been placed there under section 54;

(c) any period of delay in his or her removal which is directly attributable to his or her breach of section 51(5), (6) or (7);

(d) if the foreign national has taken or is otherwise party to proceedings in respect of his or her removal, the period between their institution and their final determination;

(e) if the foreign national is required to act as a witness in any proceedings, the period in which his or her presence in the State is required for that purpose.

(7) (a) Proceedings shall not, for the purposes of subsection (6)(d), be taken to be finally determined until the time within which an appeal from those proceedings or, as the case may be, a further appeal, may be instituted has expired and no appeal or further appeal has been instituted.

(b) Proceedings for the purposes of subsection (6)(d) may be taken to be finally determined where the foreign national has left the State prior to their determination.
(8) Where a foreign national detained under this section is a party to any proceedings the High Court may, on application to it and on being satisfied that it is, for the purposes of those proceedings, in the interests of justice that the foreign national continue to be present in the State, order the release from detention of the foreign national.

(9) In making an order under subsection (8), the High Court may make the release ordered subject to conditions; and those conditions may include conditions requiring the foreign national to—

(a) reside or remain in a district or place specified in the order,

(b) report to a Garda Síochána station or an immigration officer so specified at intervals so specified,

(c) surrender any passport or travel document he or she holds,

(d) enter into a bond,

(e) secure a surety or guarantee by a third party.

(10) In considering whether to make an order under subsection (8) and whether and how to exercise the power to impose conditions under subsection (9), the High Court shall have regard to whether the foreign national would, if released, be likely to contravene section 5(4)(a) or attempt to avoid removal from the State under section 51.

(11) In any criminal proceedings brought against a foreign national detained under subsection (2) or (3), the Director of Public Prosecutions shall, as soon as practicable, inform the court that the accused is a foreign national so detained; and the court shall, in considering whether to grant bail to the accused, have regard to that information.

(12) A foreign national arrested under subsection (1) may, instead of being detained under this section (but without prejudice to the power to detain under it) be required, by written direction given to him or her by the immigration officer or member of the Garda Síochána making the arrest, to comply with any one or more of the following conditions:

(a) that the foreign national reside or remain in a district or place specified in the direction;

(b) that he or she report to a Garda Síochána station or an immigration officer specified in the direction at intervals so specified;

(c) that he or she surrender any passport or travel document he or she holds;

(d) that he or she enter into a bond;

(e) that he or she secure a surety or guarantee by a third party.

(13) The matter of whether or not a requirement under subsection (12) was imposed on a foreign national shall not bear on any question about the lawfulness of his or her detention under subsection (2) or (3).

(14) Nothing in this Act confers an entitlement on a foreign national arrested under subsection (1) to be subjected to one of the Persons under 18 years of age.

Responsibilities of carriers in relation to removal of foreign nationals from the State.

53.—(1) Subsections (2) to (4) of section 52 do not apply to a foreign national who is under 18 years of age.

(2) If, however, and for so long as an immigration officer or member of the Garda Síochána who has the custody of a foreign national believes and has reasonable grounds for believing that the foreign national is 18 years of age or over, subsections (2) to (4) of section 52 shall apply to the foreign national.

(3) An immigration officer or member of the Garda Síochána who detains in custody any foreign national who has in his or her parental custody or is otherwise responsible for looking after a person under the age of 18 years shall, as soon as practicable, inform the Health Service Executive of that fact and such other circumstances as are relevant.

(4) An immigration officer or member of the Garda Síochána may, by written direction given to a foreign national under the age of 18 years, require that foreign national to comply with any of the conditions set out in paragraphs (a) to (c) of section 52(12).

54.—(1) An immigration officer or member of the Garda Síochána may place a detained foreign national on a vehicle that is about to leave the State; and a foreign national so placed shall continue to be in lawful custody until the vehicle leaves the State.

(2) The master of a vehicle that is about to leave the State shall, if so directed by an immigration officer or member of the Garda Síochána, receive a detained foreign national (and any dependants of the foreign national) on board the vehicle and afford him or her (and them) proper accommodation and maintenance during the journey to be taken by him or her (or them).

(3) The Minister shall pay the reasonable expenses incurred in complying with a direction under subsection (2).

(4) A direction under subsection (2) may be given only at a reasonable time before the departure of the vehicle referred to in that subsection.
(5) Where a detained foreign national arrived in the State by means of a vehicle the master or person in charge of the vehicle shall, if so directed in writing by the officer or member, remove the foreign national without delay from the State to whichever of the states referred to in section 51(3) the officer or member considers appropriate.

(6) A direction under subsection (5) may require the person to whom it is given to remove the foreign national referred to in it or require the carrier to arrange for the removal of the foreign national by another carrier.

(7) If a person fails to comply with a direction under subsection (5) or to implement an arrangement under subsection (6), the officer or member who gave the direction (including the direction under which the arrangement was made or should have been made) may arrange for the removal of the foreign national referred to in the direction.

(8) The costs incurred under subsection (7) shall be recoverable as a simple contract debt by the Minister from the person to whom the direction was given.

(9) A person who fails to comply with a direction under subsection (5) (including one given by virtue of subsection (6)) commits an offence.

(10) A member of the Garda Síochána may arrest without warrant any person whom he or she suspects of having committed an offence under subsection (9).

(11) Amounts may, for the purposes of subsection (3), be prescribed in relation to the receiving, accommodation and maintenance of a foreign national under subsection (2) and any amount so prescribed shall be taken, for the purposes of subsection (3), as a reasonable expense.

(12) In this section a “detained foreign national” is a foreign national detained under section 52.

55.—(1) The Minister may require a foreign national removed from the State under this Part to pay him or her the reasonable expenses incurred in the foreign national’s detention, removal and maintenance while being detained and removed.

(2) Subsection (1) does not apply in respect of a foreign national who is under the age of 18 years (a “minor”); the Minister may, however, require a person who—

(a) has or has had charge or responsibility of the minor and

(b) is removed from the State along with the minor, to pay him or her the reasonable expenses incurred in that minor’s detention or removal and maintenance while being detained and removed.

(3) Where more than one person is subject to a liability under subsection (2), the liability shall be joint and several.
(4) Maximum amounts may be prescribed in respect of different kinds of circumstances giving rise to expenses payable under subsections (1) and (2).

(5) In prescribing maximum amounts under subsection (4), the Minister shall have regard to the actual costs usually incurred in the circumstances to which those amounts relate.

(6) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (4), the different kinds of expenses for which maximum amounts may be prescribed under that subsection may include the following:

(a) the costs over a particular period of time of detaining a foreign national in accordance with section 52(2) and maintaining him or her there while in such detention;

(b) the costs of moving a foreign national in accordance with section 52(4)(a) and (b) including the costs of maintaining him or her while in custody during the move;

(c) the costs of removing a foreign national from the State to another state in accordance with section 51, including the costs of maintaining him or her while in custody until he or she leaves the State.

(7) The Minister shall notify a foreign national in writing of the amount of expenses to be paid by the foreign national under this section; but want of notification under this subsection does not affect the obligation under subsection (1) to pay those expenses.

(8) (a) Any costs, or any part thereof, incurred by the Minister under subsection (1), may be recovered from the foreign national concerned as a simple contract debt in any court of competent jurisdiction.

(b) The relevant period of limitation under the Statutes of Limitation in relation to a debt referred to in paragraph (a) shall not begin to run until the Minister becomes aware of the return to and presence in the State of the foreign national.

(9) In subsection (1), “reasonable expenses” includes unrecovered costs awarded by a court to the Minister in proceedings in respect of the lawfulness of the detention and removal from the State of the foreign national.

relating to the care and welfare of persons under the age of 18 years shall apply in relation to that foreign national.

(b) (i) Where a foreign national to whom paragraph (a)

that he or she is taking parental responsibility for the foreign national concerned.

(ii) The officer, where he or she is not satisfied that the adult referred to in subparagraph (i) is taking par-inform the Health Service Executive and thereupon the provisions of the Child Care Act 1991 and other enactments relating to the care and welfare of per-

(5) The officer referred to in subsection (1)(b) shall inform the foreign national concerned that he or she is entitled to consult a solicitor and the High Commissioner.

(6) (a) Subject to paragraph (b), a foreign national making an application for protection under subsection (1) shall state whether the application is also being made on behalf of his or her dependants.

(b) In the absence of a statement under paragraph (a), the application shall be deemed to be made on behalf of all the dependants of the foreign national concerned.

(c) Where dependants included in an application for protection are over 18 years of age they shall provide written consent to the application being made on their behalf.

(d) A dependant to whom paragraph (c) applies who does not consent to an application being made on his or her behalf may make an application on his or her own behalf.

(7) An application for protection under subsection (1) shall be made in the prescribed form and presented by the applicant in person and shall include all details of the grounds on which—

(a) protection is being claimed, and

(b) in the event of protection not being granted, the applicant should be allowed to remain in the State.

(8) (a) The Minister shall notify the High Commissioner in writing of the making of an application for protection and the notice shall include the name of the applicant and the name of his or her country of origin and such other information as the Minister may determine.

(b) The Minister shall furnish a copy of the record of any interview under subsection (1)(b) to the High Commissioner whenever so requested by him or her in writing.
(9) The Minister, as soon as possible after receipt by him or her of an application for protection, shall give or cause to be given to the applicant a statement in writing specifying, where possible in a language that he or she understands—

(b) the entitlement of the applicant to consult a solicitor and, where necessary and practicable, to be provided with an interpreter,

(c) the entitlement of the applicant to communicate with the High Commissioner,

(f) the obligation of the applicant to comply with conditions imposed under section 35 and the possible consequences of non-compliance with those conditions including—

(i) the possibility that his or her application for protection may be deemed to be withdrawn,

(ii) the possibility that Minister may refuse to grant the applicant protection in the State, with the consequence that the protection applicant will then be unlawfully in the State,

(iii) the requirement, under section 5 of this Act, that a person whose presence in the State is unlawful leave the State and the possibility that such a person may be removed or caused to be removed from the State,

(g) the possible consequences of the failure of the applicant to attend an interview under section 59.

59.—(1) The Minister shall investigate each protection application for the purpose of determining whether—

(a) the protection applicant is entitled to a protection residence permit, or

(b) notwithstanding that the protection applicant is not so entitled, he or she should be given a residence permit other than a protection residence permit.

(2) As part of an investigation under subsection (1), the Minister shall cause the protection applicant concerned to be interviewed.

(3) An interviewer may, where he or she considers it necessary to do so, interview any dependents of the protection applicant concerned.

(4) (a) An interview under subsection (2) or (3) shall, where necessary and possible, be conducted with the assistance of an interpreter who is able to ensure appropriate communication between the applicant and the interviewer.

(b) The requirement at paragraph (a) shall be deemed to have been complied with if interpretation is provided in a language which the applicant can reasonably be expected to understand and in which he or she is able to communicate.

(5) (a) An interview under subsection (2) or (3) shall take place:

(i) without the presence of other members of the family unless the interviewer considers it necessary for an appropriate examination to have other family members present;

(ii) under conditions which ensure appropriate confidentiality.

(b) The High Commissioner may, whenever he or she so requests, be present at an interview under subsection (2) or (3).

(c) The Minister may prescribe the conditions governing the presence of third parties at an interview under subsection (2) or (3).

(6) (a) An interview under subsection (2) or (3) may be dispensed with where the Minister is of the opinion that—

(i) based on the available evidence, the applicant is a refugee or a person eligible for subsidiary protection; or

(ii) based on a medical or psychological certificate provided by or on behalf of the applicant, the applicant is unfit or unable to be interviewed owing to enduring circumstances beyond his or her control.

(b) The application of paragraph (a) shall not of itself operate to—

(i) prevent information relating to the applicant’s protection claim from being submitted to the Minister by or on behalf of the applicant,

(ii) prevent the Minister from making a final determination in respect of the application, or

(iii) adversely affect the final determination of the protection application.

(7) (a) The protection applicant, the High Commissioner or any other person concerned may make representations in writing to the Minister in relation to any matter relevant to an investigation by him or her under this section and the Minister shall take account of any such representations made before or during an interview under subsection (2) or (3).

(b) Paragraph (a) shall not be construed as preventing the Minister from taking into account any representations made following an interview under subsection (2) or (3)
Assessment of facts and circumstances.

(8) (a) The Minister may, for the purposes of his or her functions under this Part, by notice in writing, request any Minister or such other person as may be specified in the notice to make such inquiries and to furnish to him or her such information in his or her possession or control as he or she may reasonably require within such period as shall be specified in the notice.

(b) For the purpose of his or her functions under this Part, the Minister is not fixed with knowledge of any information in the hands of another information holder (within the meaning of section 92) except to the extent that such information has been furnished to him or her either under paragraph (a) or by the applicant to whom the information relates.

(c) Paragraph (b) does not limit the use by the Minister of information within his or her knowledge relating to an applicant whether or not it has been furnished to him or her under paragraph (a) or by the applicant to whom the information relates.

(9) Nothing in the Data Protection Act 1988 shall be construed as prohibiting a person or body from giving to the Minister, on request by him or her, such information as is in the person’s possession or control relating to the application.

(10) The procedures to be followed in investigations under this section may be prescribed and different procedures may be prescribed for different classes of applications.

(11) Following the conclusion of an investigation under this section, the Minister shall cause a report to be prepared in writing, which shall contain the matters mentioned in section 70(1).

Assessment of facts and circumstances.

60.—(1) The following matters, in so far as they are known, shall be taken into account by the Minister or, as the case may be, the Tribunal for the purposes of determining an application for protection or an appeal under section 79:

(a) all relevant facts as they relate to the country of origin at the time of making a determination in respect of the application, including laws and regulations of the country of origin and the manner in which they are applied;

(b) the relevant statements and documentation presented by the applicant including information on whether he or she has been or may be subject to persecution or serious harm;

(c) the individual position and personal circumstances of the applicant, including factors such as background, gender and age, so as to assess whether, on the basis of the applicant’s personal circumstances, the acts to which the applicant has been or could be exposed would amount to persecution or serious harm;

(d) whether the applicant’s activities since leaving his or her country of origin were engaged in for the sole or main purpose of creating the necessary conditions for applying for protection so as to assess whether these activities will expose the applicant to persecution or serious harm if returned to that country;

(e) whether the applicant could reasonably be expected to avail himself or herself of the protection of another country where he or she could assert citizenship.

(2) (a) The fact that an applicant has already been subject to persecution or serious harm, or to direct threats of such persecution or such harm, shall, subject to paragraph (b), be regarded as a serious indication of the applicant's well-founded fear of persecution or real risk of suffering serious harm.

(b) Paragraph (a) shall not apply where there are good reasons to consider that such persecution or serious harm will not be repeated.

(3) A well-founded fear of being persecuted or a real risk of suffering serious harm may be based on events which have taken place since the protection applicant left his or her country of origin.

(4) A well-founded fear of being persecuted or a real risk of suffering serious harm may be based on activities which have been engaged in by the protection applicant since he or she left his or her country of origin, in particular where it is established that the activities relied upon constitute the expression and continuation of convictions or orientations held by the protection applicant in the country of origin.

(5) The Minister or Tribunal may determine that an applicant is not in need of protection if the applicant can reasonably be expected to stay in a part of his or her country of origin where there is no well-founded fear of being persecuted or real risk of suffering serious harm.

(6) In examining whether a part of the country of origin accords with subsection (5), the Minister or Tribunal shall have regard to the general circumstances prevailing in that part of the country and to the personal circumstances of the applicant.

(7) Where aspects of the applicant’s statements are not supported by documentary or other evidence, those aspects shall not need confirmation where the Minister or Tribunal is satisfied that—

(a) the applicant has made a genuine effort to substantiate his or her application,

(b) all relevant elements at the applicant’s disposal have been submitted and a satisfactory explanation regarding any lack of other relevant elements has been given,

(c) the applicant’s statements are found to be coherent and plausible and do not run counter to available specific and general information relevant to the applicant’s case,

(d) the applicant has applied for protection at the earliest possible time, except where an applicant demonstrates good reason for not having done so, and Acts of persecution.

61.—(1) Acts are not acts of persecution for the purposes of this Part unless they are:

(a) sufficiently serious by their nature or repetition as to constitute a severe violation of basic human rights, in particular the rights from which derogation cannot be made under Article 15(2) of the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms; or

(b) an accumulation of various measures, including violations of human rights which is sufficiently severe as to affect an individual in a similar manner as mentioned in paragraph (a).

(2) The following are examples of acts which may amount to acts of persecution for the purposes of this Part:

(a) acts of physical or mental violence, including acts of sexual violence;

(b) legal, administrative police, or judicial measures, or a combination of these measures, that are in themselves discriminatory or which are implemented in a discriminatory manner;

(c) prosecution or punishment that is disproportionate or discriminatory;

(d) denial of judicial redress resulting in a disproportionate or discriminatory punishment;

(e) prosecution or punishment for refusal to perform military service in a conflict, where performing military service would include crimes or acts of a kind referred to in section 63(2) or (5);

(f) acts of a gender-specific or child-specific nature.

(3) There must be a connection between the reasons for persecution, as construed under section 62, and the acts of persecution as construed under this section.

62.—(1) The Minister or, as the case may be, the Tribunal, shall take the following into account when assessing whether the persecution on which the applicant has based his or her application for protection was, or is for reasons of race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group or political opinion:

(a) the concept of race shall in particular include considerations of colour, descent, or membership of a particular ethnic group;

(b) the concept of religion shall in particular include the holding of theistic, non-theistic and atheistic beliefs, the participation in, or abstention from, formal worship in private or in public, either alone or in community with others, other religious acts or expressions of view, or forms of personal or communal conduct based on or mandated by any religious belief;

(c) the concept of nationality shall not be confined to citizenship or lack thereof but shall in particular include membership of a group determined by its cultural, ethnic, or linguistic identity, common geographical or political origins or its relationship with the population of another State;

(d) (i) a group shall be considered to form a particular social group where in particular—

(I) members of that group share an innate characteristic, or a common background that cannot be changed, or share a characteristic or belief that is so fundamental to identity or conscience that a person should not be forced to renounce it, or

(II) that group has a distinct identity in the relevant country, because it is perceived as being different by the surrounding society;

(ii) a particular social group may include a group based on a common characteristic of sexual orientation, depending on the circumstances in the country of origin,

(iii) gender-related aspects may be taken into account in assessing whether an applicant is a member of a social group based on sexual orientation without by themselves creating a presumption for the applicability of this Part;

(e) the concept of political opinion shall in particular include the holding of an opinion, thought or belief on a matter related to the potential actors of persecution and to their policies or methods, whether or not that opinion, thought or belief has been acted upon by the protection applicant.

(2) In the assessment of whether an applicant has a well-founded fear of being persecuted, it is immaterial whether the applicant actually possesses the racial, religious, national, social or political characteristic which attracts the persecution, provided that such a characteristic is attributed to the applicant by an actor of persecution.

(3) In this Part, “actors of persecution or serious harm” include—

(a) a state,

(b) parties or organisations controlling a state or a substantial part of the territory of that state, and

(c) non-state actors, if it can be demonstrated that the actors mentioned in paragraphs (a) and (b), including international organisations, are unable or unwilling to provide protection against persecution or serious harm.

63.—(1) A person is excluded from being a refugee where he or she is—

Exclusion from protection.
(a) receiving from organs or agencies of the United Nations (other than the High Commissioner) protection or assistance (subject to subsection (6)), or

(b) recognised by the competent authorities of the country in which he or she has taken residence as having the rights and obligations which are attached to the possession of the nationality of that country, or rights and obligations equivalent to those.

(2) A person is excluded from being a refugee where there are serious reasons for considering that he or she—

(a) has committed a crime against peace, a war crime, or a crime against humanity, as defined in the international instruments drawn up to make provision in respect of such crimes,

(b) has committed a serious non-political crime outside the State prior to the issue of a protection residence permit, or

(c) has been guilty of acts contrary to the purposes and principles of the United Nations as set out in the Preamble and Articles 1 and 2 of the Charter of the United Nations.

(3) A person is excluded from being eligible for subsidiary protection where there are serious reasons for considering that he or she—

(a) has committed a crime against peace, a war crime, or a crime against humanity, as defined in the international instruments drawn up to make provision in respect of such crimes;

(b) has committed a serious crime;

(c) has been guilty of acts contrary to the purposes and principles of the United Nations as set out in the Preamble and Articles 1 and 2 of the Charter of the United Nations; or

(d) constitutes a danger to the community or to the security of the State.

(4) A person may be excluded from being eligible for subsidiary protection if he or she has, prior to his or her admission to the State, committed one or more crimes, outside the scope of subsection (3), which would be punishable by imprisonment had they been committed in the State, and left his or her country of origin solely in order to avoid sanctions resulting from these crimes.

(5) A person who has instigated or otherwise participated in the commission of an act or crime mentioned in subsection (2) or (3) is excluded from being a refugee or, as the case may be, a person eligible for subsidiary protection.

(6) Subsection (1)(a) shall not apply where the protection or assistance referred to in that subsection has ceased for any reason, without the position of persons who had been receiving that protection or assistance being definitively settled in accordance with the relevant resolutions adopted by the General Assembly of the United Nations.
(7) For the purposes of subsection (2)(b), “serious non-political crime” can include particularly cruel actions, even if committed with an allegedly political objective.

64.—(1) For the purposes of this Part, protection against persecution or serious harm shall be regarded as being generally provided where reasonable steps are taken by a state or parties or organisations, including international organisations, controlling a state or a substantial part of the territory of a state to prevent the persecution or suffering of serious harm, inter alia, by operating an effective legal system for the detection, prosecution and punishment of acts constituting persecution or serious harm, where the applicant has access to such protection.

(2) For the purposes of assessing whether an international organisation controls a state or a substantial part of the territory of a state and provides protection against persecution or serious harm, the Minister or Tribunal shall take into account any guidance which may be provided in relevant acts of the Council of the European Union.

65.—(1) An applicant for protection may withdraw his or her application by sending notice of withdrawal to the Minister.

(2) Where an applicant for protection does not attend for interview under section 59 on the date and at the time fixed for the interview then, unless the applicant, not later than 3 working days from that date, furnishes the Minister with an explanation for the non-attendance which in the opinion of the Minister is reasonable in the circumstances, his or her protection application shall be deemed to be withdrawn.

(3) Where—

(a) it appears to the Minister that an applicant for protection is failing in his or her duty to co-operate with the Minister or to furnish information relevant to his or her application, or

(b) the Minister is of the opinion that the applicant for protection is in breach of section 35(3)(a), (c) or (d) or (4), the Minister shall send to the protection applicant a notice in writing inviting the protection applicant to indicate in writing within 10 working days of the sending of the notice whether he or she wishes to continue with his or her protection application; and, if a protection applicant does not furnish an indication within the time specified in the notice, his or her protection application shall be deemed to be withdrawn.

(4) Where an application for protection is withdrawn or deemed to be withdrawn pursuant to subsection (1), (2) or (3), then—

(a) any investigation of the protection application shall be terminated,

(b) the report referred to in section 70 shall state that the application has been withdrawn or deemed to be withdrawn, as the case may be, and shall include a determination that the applicant concerned is not entitled to protection in the State, and
Burden of proof. 66.—(1)
(a) Subject to section 60(7), at all times during the consideration of a protection application, including an appeal under section 79 it shall be for a protection applicant to establish that he or she is entitled to protection in the State.

(b) The Minister shall, in co-operation with the applicant, assess the relevant elements of the protection application and all other aspects of the claim to remain in the State.

(c) The Tribunal shall, for the purpose of an appeal, in co-operation with the applicant, assess the relevant elements of the protection application.

(2) Where it appears to the Minister that a protection application should be transferred to a Member State under section 87 it shall be for the protection applicant to establish that his or her protection application should be considered in the State.

(3) Where, at any time during the investigation of an application for protection by the Minister under section 59, it appears to him or her that the protection applicant—

(a) is a national of, or has a right of residence in, a country standing designated by order under section 87 as a safe country of origin, or

(b) had lodged a prior application for protection in another state party to the Geneva Convention,

(c) has been recognised as a refugee under the Geneva Convention by a state other than the State and who has been granted asylum in that state and whose reason for leaving or not returning to that state and for seeking protection in the State does not relate to a fear of persecution or serious harm in that state, or

(d) has been recognised as a person eligible for subsidiary protection in accordance with Council Directive 2004/83/EC or any other instrument replacing or amending that Directive, by a Member State and whose reason for leaving or not returning to that Member State and for seeking protection in the State does not relate to a fear of persecution or serious harm in that Member State, then the applicant shall be presumed not to be in need of protection in the State unless he or she shows reasonable grounds for the contention that he or she is in entitled to such protection.

Credibility. 67.—(1) The Minister or the Tribunal, as appropriate, shall assess the credibility of a protection applicant for the purposes of:

(a) the investigation of his or her protection application;

(b) the determination of an appeal in respect of his or her protection application; and

2OJ No. L304/12 of 30.9.2004
(c) the consideration of whether the protection applicant should be allowed to remain in the State on other grounds.

(2) The following are examples of the matters to which the Minister or the Tribunal, as appropriate, may have regard for the purposes of subsection (1)—

(a) whether the applicant possesses identity documents, and, if not, whether he or she has provided a reasonable explanation for the absence of any such document,

(b) where the applicant has forged, destroyed or disposed of any identity or other documents relevant to his or her application, whether he or she has provided a reasonable explanation for so doing,

(c) whether the applicant has provided a reasonable explanation to substantiate his or her claim that the State is the first safe country in which he or she has arrived since departing from his or her country of origin or habitual residence,

(d) where the protection application was made other than at a frontier of the State, whether the applicant has provided a reasonable explanation to show why he or she did not claim protection immediately on arriving at a frontier of the State unless the application is grounded on events which have taken place since his or her arrival in the State,

The Tribunal shall, where necessary and possible, procure the attendance of an interpreter to assist at the hearing.

The application of paragraph (f) shall not of itself operate—

(i) to prevent information relating to the applicant’s protection claim from being submitted to the Tribunal by or on behalf of the applicant,

(ii) prevent the Tribunal from making a final determination in respect of the appeal, or

(iii) adversely affect the final determination of the appeal.

Subject to section 79(5), a witness whose evidence has been or is to be given before the Tribunal shall be entitled to the same privileges and immunities as a witness in a court.

The Tribunal, where it considers it appropriate to do so in the interest of the fair and efficient discharge of its business, may decide to hold—

(a) a single oral hearing in respect of more than one appeal, or

(c) provide all relevant information being relied upon by the applicant to demonstrate that he or she is entitled to protection in the State, and

(5) The Minister shall notify the applicant of his or her decision to consent or, as the case may be, not to consent to a further application being made under this section and the reasons for that decision.

85.—(1) The Minister and the Tribunal and their respective officers shall take all practicable steps to ensure that the identity of applicants is kept confidential.
(2) No matter likely to lead members of the public to identify a person as an applicant under this Act shall, without the consent of that person, be published in a written publication available to the public or be broadcast.

5 (3) If any matter is published or broadcast in contravention of subsection (2), the following persons, namely—

(3) Where, in relation to a request under subsection (1), there is more than one decision of the Tribunal that is of legal relevance set out in that subsection, and the chairperson is of opinion that—

(b) a representative sample of such decisions sufficient to meet the requirements of fairness has already been published under subsection (5), the making available of such representative sample shall be sufficient to comply with the requirements of this section.

(4) The chairperson may refuse a request where he or she is satisfied that the request is frivolous or vexatious.

(7) An applicant’s legal representative shall—

(a) bring to the attention of the Tribunal any decisions of which the representative is aware which may tend not to support the appeal, and not to have made the reasonable efforts to establish his or her identity referred to in section 35 and to have failed to comply with section 68, purposes of storage and comparison, a record of biometric information provided under requirements imposed under subsection (1).

(7) Biometric information provided under a requirement imposed the record of it kept under subsection (6) deleted if the foreign national to whom it relates becomes an Irish citizen.

The destruction and deletion required by subsection (7) shall take place not later than one month after the granting of the certificate or the acknowledgement of the declaration by which the foreign national referred to in subsection (7) became an Irish citizen.

96.—(1) The Minister may, if he or she considers it necessary in the interest of public security or public policy (“ordre public”), by order (referred to in this Act as an “exclusion order”) exclude a foreign national specified in the order from the State.

98.—(1) The keeper of premises to which this section applies shall maintain in the premises a register in the prescribed form of all foreign nationals enrolled in, attending at or staying in the premises.

(2) The keeper of premises to which this section applies, on being so required by an immigration officer, shall produce the register maintained by that keeper to the immigration officer.

(b) a decision under the European Communities (Free Movement of Persons) (No. 2) Regulations 2006 (S.I. No. 656 of 2006), shall not, in any legal proceedings, be questioned otherwise than by way of an application for judicial review under Order 84 of the Rules of the Superior Courts 1986 (in this section referred to as the “Order”).

(2) An application by a person for leave to apply for judicial review under the Order in respect of any of the acts, decisions or determinations referred to in subsection (1) shall—

(a) be made within the period of 14 days beginning on the date on which the person was notified of the act, decision or determination, and

(b) be made by motion on notice (grounded in the manner specified in the Order in respect of an ex parte motion for leave) to the Minister and any other person specified for that purpose by order of the High Court, and such leave shall not be granted unless the High Court is satisfied that there are substantial grounds for contending that the act, decision, or determination is invalid or ought to be quashed.

(3) The High Court may not extend the period referred to in sub-section (2)(a) unless satisfied either—

(a) that each of the following conditions is fulfilled:

(i) the applicant—

(I) did not become aware until after that period’s expiration of the material facts on which the grounds for his or her application are based, or

(II) became aware of those facts before that period’s expiration but only after such number of days of that period had elapsed as would have made it not reasonably practicable for the applicant to have made his or her application for leave before that period’s expiration;

(ii) the applicant, with reasonable diligence, could not have become aware of those facts until after the expiration of that period, or, as the case may be, that number of days had elapsed;

(iii) his or her application for leave was made as soon as was reasonably practicable after the applicant became aware of those facts,

or

(b) that there are other exceptional circumstances relating to the applicant and under which, through no fault of the applicant, his or her application could not be made within the period referred to in sub-section (2)(a).

(5) An appeal shall lie from a determination of the High Court of the kind referred to in sub-section (4), but only with the leave of the High Court, which leave shall be granted only where the High Court certifies that its decision involves a point of law of exceptional public importance and that it is desirable in the public interest that an appeal should be taken to the Supreme Court.

(6) Subsection (4) shall not apply to a determination of the High Court in so far as it involves a question as to the validity of any law having regard to the provisions of the Constitution.
(7) Subject to subsection (8), where, in the opinion of the Court, the grounds put forward for contending that an act, decision or determination referred to in subsection (1) is invalid or ought to be quashed are frivolous or vexatious, the Court may, by its order, so declare and shall direct by whom and in what proportion the costs are to be borne and paid.

(8) Where the Court forms an opinion of the kind referred to in subsection (7), it may direct that the costs, or a part of the costs, of the proceedings shall be borne by the legal representative of the applicant.

(9) An application by a foreign national for leave to apply for judicial review against a transfer under section 87, for an extension of time under subsection (3), or a removal of the foreign national from the State shall not of itself suspend or prevent his or her transfer or, as the case may be, removal from the State.

(10) Without limiting the Court’s powers generally, the Court may, however, suspend the transfer or removal referred to in subsection (9) for such period as it is satisfied is necessary for the foreign national to give instructions to his or her legal representative in relation to the application where it is satisfied that the giving of such instructions would otherwise be impossible.

(11) Where it is proposed to remove a person from the State following the rejection of his or her application for protection, that person may not challenge (whether by way of judicial review or otherwise) his or her removal from the State solely on the basis of the existence of information that was not available to the Minister or, as the case may be, the Tribunal before the rejection or deemed rejection of the application.

(12) The High Court shall give such priority as it reasonably can, having regard to all the circumstances, to the disposal of proceedings of the kind referred to in this section.

(3) A person guilty of any other offence under this Act (except section 26) is liable—

(a) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding €5,000 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months or both,

(b) on conviction on indictment, to a fine not exceeding €500,000 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 5 years or both.
Where an offence under this Act has been committed by a body corporate and is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of a person who is a director, manager, secretary or other officer of the body corporate, or a person who was purporting to act in any such capacity, that person as well as the body corporate shall be guilty of an offence and be liable to be proceeded against and punished as if he or she were guilty of the first-mentioned offence.

Where the affairs of a body corporate are managed by its members, subsection (4) shall apply in relation to the acts and defaults of a member in connection with his or her functions of management as if he or she were a director or manager of the body corporate.

Notwithstanding section 10(4) of the Petty Sessions (Ireland) Act 1851, summary proceedings for an offence under this Act may be instituted at any time within 2 years after the date alleged to be the date on which the offence was committed and, in the case of a continuing offence, on the last date on which that offence was committed.

The Minister may, by regulations—

(a) provide for any matter referred to in this Act as prescribed,

(b) provide for the purposes of giving full effect to this Act.

The Minister may, with the consent of the Minister for Finance, prescribe fees for the purposes of this Act.

Regulations under this Act may contain such incidental, supplementary and consequential provision as appears to the Minister to be necessary or expedient for the purposes of the regulations.

Regulations may provide differently for different cases or circumstances.

Every order (other than an order relating to an individual) or regulation made by the Minister under this Act shall be laid before both Houses of the Oireachtas as soon as practicable after it is made, and, if a resolution annulling the order or regulation is passed by either such House within the next subsequent 21 days on which that House has sat after the order or regulation is laid before it, the order or regulation shall be annulled accordingly but without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done thereunder.

Where a notice is required or authorised by or under this Act to be given to a person, it shall be addressed to him or her and shall be served on or given to him or her in one of the following ways:

(a) where it is addressed to him or her by name, by delivering it to him or her;

(b) by sending it by post in a prepaid registered letter, or by any prescribed form of recorded delivery service, addressed to him or her—
103.—(1) The Minister may delegate—

(a) to another Minister, or

(b) by order, to any other person,

any of the Minister’s functions under this Act.

(2) Subsection (1) does not extend to those of the Minister’s functions under this Act that are expressed in the Act to be exercisable personally by the Minister.

(3) The Minister may make a delegation under subsection (1) subject to such limitations and conditions as the Minister considers appropriate.

(4) Anything done under a delegation under subsection (1) shall be regarded as done by the Minister.

(2) Where, before the coming into operation of this section, a person—

(a) had applied for a declaration under section 8 of the Refugee Act 1996, and
(b) had been interviewed under section 11 of that Act, then, notwithstanding the coming into operation of any other provision of this Act, that Act (and not this Act) shall apply for all purposes of disposing of the application.

(3) A person who, before the coming into operation of this Act, was declared by the Minister to be or was otherwise recognised by him or her as a refugee shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as one in respect of whom a protection residence permit has been given under this Act.

(4) Where, before the coming into operation of this section, a person—

(a) had applied for a declaration under section 8 of the Refugee Act 1996, but

(b) had not been interviewed under section 11 of that Act, the provisions of this Act shall apply to the application as if it were an application for protection and the Minister shall give or cause to be given to the person before he or she is so interviewed a statement in writing explaining the effect of this Act in relation to how applications for protection in the State are dealt with.

(5) A deportation order made under section 3 of the Immigration Act 1999 shall, notwithstanding the coming into force of this section, continue to have effect; and the Immigration Act 1999 shall continue to apply for all the purposes of that order.

(6) A person who was appointed by the Minister before the date of coming into operation of this Act to be an immigration officer and was acting as such immediately before that date shall, for all purposes connected with the performance of his or her functions as an immigration officer, be deemed to have been appointed under this Act as an immigration officer.

(7) Any reference in an Act passed or statutory instrument made before the date of coming into operation of this Act to an immigration officer shall, on and after that date, be construed so far as relating to anything done then by or in respect of the officer, as a reference to an immigration officer appointed under this Act.

(b) where he or she is the holder of a permit under Part 5, that permit.

(2) A foreign national who contravenes this section shall be guilty of an offence.

(3) In this section “on demand” means on demand made at any time by any immigration officer or a member of the Garda Síochána.
106.—(1) The Minister may, notwithstanding any enactment (other than this section) or rule of law—

(a) provide information (including biometric information) about a foreign national to and receive such information from another state, and

(b) make arrangements with other states for those purposes.

(2) The Minister shall not, for the purposes of examining an application for protection in the State—

(a) directly disclose information about an applicant for such protection, (including the fact that such an application has been made), to any alleged actor of persecution or serious harm (within the meanings given by section 62) to which the application relates, or

(b) seek any such information about such an applicant from such an actor in a way which—

(i) would directly inform the actor of the fact that such an application had been made by the applicant, or

(ii) be likely to jeopardise the safety of the applicant or his or her dependants or the liberty or security of other members of his or her family who are in his or her country of origin.

(3) The Minister shall not disclose information if to do so would not be in the interests of public security or public policy (“ordre public”).

(4) Where information has been supplied to the Minister by or on behalf of the government of another state in accordance with an undertaking (express or implied) that the information will be kept confidential, the information shall not, except with the consent of that government, be dealt with otherwise than in accordance with the undertaking.
General

This Bill sets out a legislative framework for the management of inward migration to Ireland. It lays down a number of important principles governing the presence in the State of foreign nationals, including the obligation on a foreign national who is unlawfully in the State to leave. It sets out statutory processes for applying for a visa, for entry to the State, for residence in the State and for being required, when necessary, to leave.

The responsibilities of the State, as executive functions vested in the Government, to operate immigration controls in the interest of the common good have been set out in a passage from the judgment of Gannon J. in Osheku v. Ireland ([1986] IR 733 at 746) as follows:

The control of aliens which is the purpose of the Aliens Act, 1935, is an aspect of the common good related to the definition, recognition, and the protection of the boundaries of the State. That it is in the interests of the common good of a State that it should have control of the entry of aliens, their departure, and their activities and duration of stay within the State is and has been recognised universally and from earliest times. There are fundamental rights of the State itself as well as fundamental rights of the individual citizens, and the protection of the former may involve restrictions in circumstances of necessity on the latter. The integrity of the State constituted as it is of the collective body of its citizens within the national territory must be defended and vindicated by the organs of the State and by the citizens so that there may be true social order within the territory and concord maintained with other nations in accordance with the objectives declared in the preamble to the Constitution.

This passage has been quoted with approval by the Supreme Court in a line of cases, including Article 26 Referral of the Illegal Immigrants (Trafficking) Bill 1999 ([2000] 2 IR 360), FP v. Minister for Justice ([2002] 1 IR 164) and AO and DL v. Minister for Justice, Equality and Law Reform ([2003] 1 IR 1).

The executive power and responsibility of the Government to make immigration policies as they consider suitable to the conditions of the day is at present supplemented by a variety of statutory provisions designed to facilitate the implementation of those policies. Those statutory provisions include the Aliens Act 1935, the Immigration Act 1999, the Immigration Act 2003 and the Immigration Act 2004, which this Bill will repeal and replace.

This Bill is similarly designed to supplement the Government’s executive responsibility for making policies to manage migration to the State with a statutory framework to facilitate the promulgation of the Government’s immigration policies and their day-to-day implementation. In doing so, the Bill is intended not to fetter or supplant that executive responsibility.

Another important principle underlying the provisions of the Bill is the clarifying provision of section 5 regarding the lawfulness and unlawfulness of presence in the State of foreign nationals. In particular, the element of that provision requiring a foreign national who is unlawfully present in the State to remove himself or herself is a fundamental principle that dictates the content of many subsequent provisions of the Bill.

Provisions of the Bill set out statutory procedures to be followed in dealing with applications for visas (new to statute), entry into the State (based on present law), residence permits while in the State (largely new) and removal from the State (based to some extent on present law, but with some significant innovations). The operation of these provisions by officers of the Minister for Justice, Equality and Law Reform or others must be in accordance with relevant published immigration policy statements. Respect is paid to the residual personal discretion of the Minister to make different decisions in particular cases.

The Bill integrates the processes for dealing with claims for protection in the State (at present covered by the Refugee Act 1996 and the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006 (S.I. No. 518 of 2006)) and all other aspects of the desire of a protection claimant to remain in the State (at present dealt with under the Immigration Act 1999) into a unified process at the end of which each claimant has a complete answer to the question whether he or she will be permitted to remain in the State. In consequence, the Bill repeals the Refugee Act and the Regulations, and subsumes into the Minister’s functions those at present carried out by the Refugee Applications Commissioner in relation to asylum applications. The Bill also transposes into national law Council Directive 2005/85/EC of 1 December 2005 on minimum standards on procedures in Member States for granting and withdrawing refugee status (“Procedures Directive”).

Of special note is the provision in statute for foreign nationals to obtain long-term residence permits, giving to the holders rights in the State similar in most respects to those of Irish citizens.

The Bill also makes some general provisions in relation to the powers of immigration officers, exchange of information, notification requirements for marriages of foreign nationals and special provisions on judicial review based on the present provisions of section 5 of the Illegal Immigrants (Trafficking) Act 2000.

PART 1

PRELIMINARY

Part 1 (sections 1 to 4) of the Bill deals with preliminary matters such as the saver for the inherent executive power of the State, citation and commencement and interpretation.

Section 1 provides that nothing in the Act shall be taken to affect the executive power of the State, exercised by the Government, to make overall policy decisions in relation to immigration and decisions about whether a foreign national or a foreign national of any class may enter, be present in or be required to leave the State.

Sections 2 and 3 are standard provisions dealing with citation and commencement of the Act and expenses.

Section 4 sets out the interpretation of the primary terms referred to throughout the Bill.

GENERAL

Part 2 (sections 5 to 10) of the Bill sets out general provisions dealing with: lawful and unlawful presence in the State; the requirement to possess travel documents; the restricted entitlement to State services of foreign nationals unlawfully present in the State and immigration policy statements.

Section 5 provides that the presence in, or entry into, the State of a foreign national is lawful only if it is in accordance with a permission given or deemed to be given to him or her, in accordance with the Act. This section is based on section 5 of the Immigration Act 2004. A foreign national who enters the State unlawfully or whose presence in the State is unlawful commits an offence and is, by subsection (4), under an obligation to leave the State and may be removed, if necessary following arrest and detention, for that purpose. A foreign national who commits an offence under this section is liable to the penalty provisions set out in section 98(1) and (2). By subsection (11), based on section 2(3) of the Immigration Act 2004, it is for a foreign national to establish, in any proceedings, his or her status in the State.

Section 6 has the same effect as section 2 of the Immigration Act 2004. It sets out the classes of persons who are deemed to have permission to be present in the State. It enables the Minister to specify by order classes of persons who are to be regarded as having permission to be present in the State. In addition, the section contains a saver for any EU-related obligations of the State affecting immigration matters.

Section 7 is based on section 11 of the Immigration Act 2004 and sets out the requirement for every person (other than a British or Irish citizen travelling within the Common Travel Area) to be in possession of a valid passport or other equivalent document establishing his or her identity and nationality when landing in the State. The section also obliges a person landing in or embarking from the State to provide an immigration officer with any necessary information for the purposes of the performance of his or her functions. Failure to do so is an offence that attracts the penalties set out in section 98.

By section 8 a foreign national whose presence in the State is unlawful will, as a general rule, not be entitled to enter into employment, engage in other economic activity or avail of any state-funded benefits or services (subsection (1)). Subsection (2) sets out exceptions to this general rule. Certain essential services, including medical services, will continue to be provided. In addition, subsection (3) enables the Minister, having consulted with the Minister for Social and Family Affairs, to prescribe the extent to which any additional emergency provision is to be made available. However, any benefit or service provided to an unlawfully present foreign national will not, of itself, render his or her presence lawful.

Section 9 acknowledges the inherent executive power of the Government to make policy regarding immigration to the State. The section makes provision for promulgation of immigration policy statements made by Government that deal with a wide range of matters (subsection (2)). Subsection (3) is a saver for the executive power of the Government to determine policy on immigration to the State or, otherwise than in accordance with subsections (1) and (2), to make or publish statements of that policy.

Section 10 provides that every decision taken under the Act, other than a decision made by the Government or the Minister for Justice, Equality and Law Reform or a decision made on grounds relating to public security, public order or public health, is to be made in accordance with any relevant immigration policy statement.

PART 3

VISAS

Part 3 (sections 11 to 20) provides a statutory framework for issuing and revocation of visas.

Section 11 provides a definition (subsection (1)) and clarity as to the validity (subsection (2)) of a visa. Subsection (3) provides that a visa may contain any information which the Minister may determine appropriate including biometric information. A visa does not of itself entitle the foreign national to whom it relates to enter or be present in the State (subsection (4)). The Government and the Minister have discretion, in deciding whether to grant or revoke a visa, to make it subject to any condition or to revoke any condition to which it is subject (subsection (5)).

Section 12 provides a definition of a transit visa which permits the holder to arrive at a port in the State for the purpose of passing through the port in order to travel to another state. The provisions applicable to visas at section 11 also apply to a transit visa.

Section 13 contains provisions whereby the Minister may designate a foreign national as exempted from the need to have a visa. A foreign national may be a visa-exempt foreign national in some circumstances and, in other circumstances, be required to possess a visa (subsection (5)).

Section 14 sets out the application process for a visa. The Minister is not obliged to consider an application which is not in the prescribed form or accompanied by the appropriate travel document (subsection (7)). Under subsection (2) the Minister may prescribe circumstances in which a deposit or bond and a guarantee is to accompany a visa application. The Minister is not obliged to determine a visa application that should be but is not accompanied by a deposit or bond and guarantee (subsection (7)). The Minister can, in certain circumstances, waive all or part of a sum forfeited (subsection (8)) or refund a deposit (subsection (9)). Subsection (10) makes provision for the prescription of different fees for different classes of visa and visas may be classified for that purpose by any factors or combination of factors which the Minister considers appropriate.

Section 15 deals with the determination by the Minister of visa applications. The Minister is under no obligation to issue a visa (subsection (7)). It is for the visa applicant to establish to the satisfaction of the Minister that he or she should be granted a visa (subsection (1)). The Minister may make appropriate inquiries before determining an application (subsections (3) and (4)). Subsections (5) and (6) set out some of the matters that the Minister may have regard to in determining an application. Subsections (8) and (9) enable the Minister to refuse a visa application and set out examples of the grounds on which the Minister may consider a refusal justified.

Section 16 deals with refusal of a visa application. Where the Minister refuses a visa application, he or she must notify (the possibility of notification via the internet (subsection (2) is envisaged) the applicant of the refusal, the reason for the refusal (subsection (1)) and inform the applicant whether a review is available and, if so, how it may be sought (subsection (6)). The Minister is not obliged to disclose confidential information without consent of the provider of that information (subsection (4)) or other information if, in his or her opinion, to do so would be prejudicial to public security or public policy (“ordre public”) (subsection (3)).

Section 17 deals with revocation of a visa. Under (subsection (1)) the Minister may revoke a visa if he or she considers its revocation to be justified. Subsection (2) contains examples of reasons why the Minister may consider a revocation justified. The notification and non-disclosure requirements at section 16 apply in respect of a revocation of a visa. By subsection (4), the section doesn’t apply where the visa holder is also the holder of a renewable residence permit.

Sections 18 and 19 deal with the process for seeking and obtaining a review of a decision refuse or to revoke a visa.

Section 20 makes provision for the delegation of visa functions by the Minister.

PART 4

ENTRY INTO THE STATE

Part 4 of the Bill deals with entry into the State and sets out the responsibilities of foreign nationals and carriers in this regard.

Section 21 is based, to a large extent, on section 6 of the Immigration Act 2004 and provides (subsection (1)) that a foreign national may only enter the state via an approved port (for immigration purposes). Failure to comply with this requirement, other than with the consent of the Minister (subsection (3) sets out the process for obtaining this consent), constitutes an offence (subsection (2)). Designation as an approved port may be subject to conditions (subsections (6), (7) and (8)). Subsection (4) lists the exemptions from the requirement at (subsection (1)). Subsection (10) creates an offence of unlawfully operating a port as an approved port.

Section 22, which is based on section 4 of the Immigration Act 2004, sets out the obligations for certain foreign nationals to present to immigration staff and to apply for permission to enter the State (subsections (1), (3) and (5)) and creates an offence for failure to do so (subsection (2)). It also specifies the powers vested in immigration staff in determining whether a person should be given permission to enter and be present in the State and the sort of information that would be pertinent in making that decision (subsections (6) and (7)). It also sets out what the staff member should do where the foreign national makes an application for protection (subsections (8), (9) and (10)).

Section 23 deals with the procedures to be followed where the foreign national is under 18 years of age and the interactions with the Health Service Executive that should take place. This provision is based on section 8(5) of the Refugee Act 1996.
Section 24 provides that the power to permit or refuse permission to enter the State shall be exercised by an immigration officer. The provision is based on section 4 of the Immigration Act 2004. By subsection (5), an immigration officer will give a foreign national who is permitted to enter the State an entry permit. By subsection (6), a foreign national who has made an application for protection, other than a foreign national who is the subject of an exclusion order, will be permitted to enter the State and be issued with a protection temporary residence permit. Where it is not possible to issue a protection temporary residence permit to the foreign national concerned, the immigration officer will, under subsection (7), detain the foreign national or require him or her to reside in a specified place until the permit can be issued.

Section 25, based on section 4(3) of the Immigration Act 2004, sets out the grounds on which an immigration officer can refuse entry to the State.

Sections 26 and 27 restate sections 2 and 3 of the Immigration Act 2003 without changes of substance. They detail the responsibilities of carriers (persons in charge of a vehicle or form of transport or responsible for the carriage of passengers) in ensuring that all foreign nationals enter the State at an approved port and present to immigration officers. Carriers will also be required to ensure that those persons on board the vehicle have valid passports. They will further be required to provide such details as may be prescribed of all persons on board.

Section 27 provides for the service of notice and payment of fixed penalties for offences committed under section 26.

PART 5
ENTRY AND RESIDENCE PERMITS

Part 5 (sections 28 to 49) of the Bill provides for a system of residence permits which will form the basis for lawful residence in the State. A residence permit will be evidence of the immigration status of the holder in the State.

Sections 28 and 29 set out the provisions relating to residence and entry permits respectively and the conditions which may attach to such permits.

Section 30 deals with the renewal of residence permits. By subsection (1) the Minister is not obliged to consider any application for renewal of a residence permit that is expressed to be not renewable and no appeal lies from his or her refusal to either consider such an application or to renew the permit. Subsection (2) makes similar provision where the Minister refuses to consider an application for a residence permit from the holder of an entry permit which contains no statement that the holder is eligible to apply for a residence permit. Subsections (3) to (9) set out the process for consideration of an application for renewal of a residence permit.

Section 31 contains provisions for the replacement of a residence permit.

Section 32 contains provisions for the modification of conditions applicable to a residence permit.

Section 33 sets out the matters which the Minister must have regard to when determining an application for the issue or renewal of a residence permit.

Section 34 contains provision for the issue of a long-term residence permit to a foreign national who meets the standard eligibility requirements (set out in subsection (2)) or the eligibility requirements set out in a relevant statement of immigration policy, where the latter are more favourable. A long-term residence permit will be valid for a period of 5 years and shall be renewable on conditions (subsection (1)(b)) and its validity will not be affected by absence from the State of the holder for a continuous period of less than one year (subsection (1)(c)). Subsection (3) sets out the entitlements attaching to a long-term residence permit. Paragraph (a) of subsection (4) enables the Minister to issue a long-term residence permit to a person who does not meet the residence requirement provided for at subsection (2)(a). Paragraph (b) sets out the conditions that will apply for a probationary period of 2 years, or such lesser probationary period as the Minister may specify, to a long-term residence permit issued under paragraph (a). Paragraph (c) makes provision for the issue of a long-term residence permit following the expiry of the probationary period.

Section 35 makes provision for a protection temporary residence permit which will be issued to a protection applicant when he or she is permitted to enter the State for the purpose of having his or her application determined. This section is based on sections 9(2), (3), (4), (4A), (5), (6) and (7) of the Refugee Act 1996.

Section 36 contains provisions allowing for the detention of protection applicants. It is based on section 9(8), (9), (10), (11), (12), (13), (14) and section 10 of the Refugee Act 1996 with no substantive change.

Section 37 makes provision for priority to be given to applications from protection applicants who have been detained. It is based on section 10(4) of the Refugee Act 1996.

Section 38 makes provision for a protection residence permit which will be issued to any person who is determined to be eligible for protection in the State. The section is based on section 3 of the Refugee Act and Regulation 17 of the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006 with no substantive change.

Section 39 provides for the establishment and maintenance of a register of foreign nationals to whom residence permits and protection temporary residence permits have issued.

Sections 40 to 43 makes provision for the discontinuance of the different classes of residence permits and the procedures for discontinuance. The sections are based on section 3(4) and (6) of the Immigration Act 1999, section 21 of the Refugee Act 1996 and Regulations 11 and 14 of the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006 with suitable modifications but no change of substance.

Section 44 makes provision for the making of a expulsion order by the Minister when discontinuing a residence permit.

Section 45 makes provision for the setting of fees for applications for different classes of permits. Provision is made at subsection (6) for the waiver of fees in respect of applications for protection and applications from persons under 18 years of age.
Section 46 deals with programme refugees and is based on section 24 of the Refugee Act 1996.

Section 47 provides for a scheme of temporary protection in accordance with Council Directive 2001/55/EC on minimum standards for giving temporary protection in the event of a mass influx of displaced persons and on measures promoting a balance of efforts between EU Member States in receiving such persons and bearing the consequences thereof. The section applies to a foreign national to whom, in accordance with the provisions of the Council Directive, permission to enter and remain in the State has been given by the Government.

Section 48 provides for the issue of a travel document to a person who has been granted a protection residence permit identifying its holder as that person. The section is based on section 4 of the Refugee Act 1996 and Regulation 18 of the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006 with no change of substance.

Section 49 sets out the circumstances under which the Minister may grant permission to family members of holders of protection residence permits to enter and reside in the State. It also sets out the entitlements of family members granted such permission (subsection (4)(a)). The section is based on section 18 of the Refugee Act 1996 and Regulation 16 of the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006 with no change of substance.

PART 6

REMOVAL FROM THE STATE

Part 6 of the Bill contains provisions dealing with removal of foreign national from the State. Removal will only arise where the foreign national concerned, being unlawfully present in the State, has failed to comply with his or her obligation under section 5 to leave.

Section 50 defines refoulement (subsection (1)). The section also sets out (subsections (2), (3) and (5)) the circumstances where the sending of a foreign national from the State to particular destinations will be presumed not to be a refoulement. Subsection (4) provides that the presumptions at subsections (2) and (3) are rebuttable. Subsection (6) is based on section 25 of the Refugee Act 1996.

Section 51 provides for the removal from the State, by an immigration officer or a member of the Garda Síochána, of a foreign national unlawfully present in the State or at a frontier of the State. It is based on section 5(5), (8) and (9) of the Immigration Act 2003. It requires the person being removed (subsection (6)) or his or her parent, guardian or person having responsibility for him or her (subsection (7)) to co-operate in any way necessary to facilitate the removal. A person removed under this section is ineligible for permission to enter the State for 6 months from the date of removal (subsection (9)) but this period may be disregarded in certain circumstances (subsection (10)).

Section 52, which is based on provisions in section 5 of the Immigration Act 1999 and section 5 of the Immigration Act 2003, provides for the arrest and detention of a foreign national for the purposes of removing him or her from the State. By subsection (5), the foreign national may be detained only until such time (being as soon as practicable) as he or she is removed from the State. By subsection (8), where the foreign national is a party to any proceedings, the High Court may order his or her release from detention if satisfied that those proceedings require his or her continued presence in the State. Subsection (12) provides for an alternative to detention; namely, a requirement to comply with conditions including a condition to reside or remain in a specified place.

By section 53, which is based on section 5(4) of the Immigration Act 1999 and section 5(2)(b) of the Immigration Act 2004, the detention provisions do not apply to a foreign national who is under 18 years of age. However, by subsection (4) such a foreign national may be required to comply with the conditions set out in section 52(12).

Section 54, which is based on provisions in section 5 of the Immigration Act 1999 and section 5 of the Immigration Act 2003, provides for the responsibilities of carriers in relation to removal of persons from the State. An immigration officer or a member of the Garda Síochána may place a detained foreign national on a ship, aircraft or other vehicle that is about to leave the State (subsection (1)). The person in charge of the ship, aircraft or other vehicle shall, if so directed within a reasonable time before departure (subsection (4)), receive such a foreign national on board (subsection (2)). By subsection (3), the Minister will reimburse the reasonable expenses (which, by subsection (11) may be prescribed) incurred by the carrier in complying with subsections (1) and (2). Where a detained foreign national arrived in the State by means of a ship, aircraft or other vehicle the person in charge of the ship, aircraft or other vehicle must, if so directed, remove the foreign national without delay from the State (subsection (5)) or arrange for his or her removal by another carrier (subsection (6)). A carrier who fails to comply with a direction under subsection (5) or (6) commits an offence. By subsection (7) and (8), the officer or member may make alternative arrangements where the carrier fails to comply with a direction under subsection (5) or (6) and the costs of such arrangements will be recoverable from the carrier concerned.

Section 55 provides that the Minister may require a foreign national removed from the State to pay the reasonable expenses incurred by virtue of his or her detention, removal and maintenance for the purposes of that removal, subject to maximum amounts which may be prescribed.

PART 7

PROTECTION

Part 7 of the Bill contains provisions relating to the meaning, content, procedures and eligibility criteria relating to the giving of protection to a foreign national in the State. It integrates many of the provisions of the Refugee Act 1996 and the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006 with appropriate modifications to take account of the introduction of a unified process for the determination of protection applications (“single procedure”).

Section 56 is an interpretation section.

Section 57 provides that a person who is either a refugee or a person eligible for subsidiary protection is entitled to protection in the State. For the purposes of the unified process for the determination of protection applications, subsection (2) deems an application for any form of protection to be an application for refugee status.
Section 58 outlines the procedure for a foreign national, whether lawfully or unlawfully in the State, to make an application for protection to the Minister. The section is based on sections 8 and 11(8) of the Refugee Act 1996 and Articles 6 and 10 of the Procedures Directive.

Section 59 sets out the process whereby the Minister will investigate protection applications. It is based on section 11(1) to (5) and (12) of the Refugee Act 1996. It also takes account of Articles 12 and 13 of the Procedures Directive.

Section 60 outlines the nature and source of the information which must be taken into account by the Minister in the course of his investigation into a protection application. It is based on Regulations 5, 6 and 7 of the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006.

Section 61 is based on Regulation 9 of the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006 and outlines what may constitute acts of persecution for the purpose of assessing whether a person is a refugee.

Section 62 is based on Regulation 10 of the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006 and outlines what may constitute reasons for persecution for the purpose of assessing whether a person is a refugee.

Section 63 is based on section 2 of the Refugee Act 1996 and Regulations 12 and 13 of the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006 and sets out the circumstances in which an applicant for protection will be excluded from receiving protection in the State.

Section 64 provides that protection against persecution or serious harm shall be regarded as being generally provided where reasonable steps are taken by a state or parties controlling a state or part of the territory to prevent the persecution or suffering of serious harm. It is based on Regulations 2 and 8 of the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006.

Section 65 provides a mechanism for a protection application to be withdrawn or be deemed withdrawn from the protection application investigation process. It is based on sections 11(9) to 11(11) and 13(4) of the Refugee Act 1996 and Articles 19 and 20 of the Procedures Directive.

Section 66, based on section 11A of the Refugee Act 1996, provides that the burden of proof for establishing a credible claim for protection is primarily on the person asserting the fear of persecution or serious harm; namely, the protection applicant. This section also provides for an obligation on the Minister and the Protection Review Tribunal to assess the relevant elements of the claim in co-operation with the applicant.

Section 67, based on section 11B of the Refugee Act 1996 modified to reflect the single procedure, outlines the factors that are relevant in relation to the credibility of a protection applicant.

Section 68, based on section 11B of the Refugee Act 1996, places a duty on applicants to cooperate with the requirements and procedures set by the Minister, including furnishing the Minister with relevant information as to his or her identity and reasons for applying for protection in the State.
Section 69, based on section 12 of the Refugee Act 1996 and Article 23 of the Procedures Directive, provides that the Minister may give priority to the processing of different classes and categories of protection application on a wide variety of grounds.

Section 70, provides for the report of the investigation into the protection application conducted by the Minister at first instance. Subsection (1) is based on section 13(1) of the Refugee Act and Article 14 of the Procedures Directive. Subsection (2) sets out the possible outcomes of the investigation — the applicant is either; (i) a refugee; (ii) not a refugee but eligible for subsidiary protection; (iii) not eligible for protection but will be given a residence permit (other than a protection residence permit); or (iv) not eligible for protection and must leave the State. The fact that either of these outcomes is possible from the first instance investigation is a consequence of the single procedure being introduced by the Bill. Subsection (3) is based on section 13(6) of the Refugee Act 1996. Subsection (4) is based on Article 23(2) of the Procedures Directive.

Section 71, based on provisions in section 13 of the Refugee Act 1996 and Article 14 of the Procedures Directive, provides that the Minister must notify a protection applicant of the Minister’s determination of the protection application and the reasons for that determination. The notification must also inform the applicant of the procedures in relation to an appeal to the Protection Review Tribunal against the Minister’s determination.

Section 72, based on provisions at section 21 of the Refugee Act 1996 and Regulations 11 and 14 of the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006, provides for the circumstances in which a person ceases to be a refugee or a person eligible for subsidiary protection in the State.

Section 73 sets out the nature of the consideration which will determine whether a person who is not granted a protection residence permit will be allowed to remain in the State.

Section 74, based on provisions at section 17 of the Refugee Act 1996 and Regulation 17 of the European Communities (Eligibility for Protection) Regulations 2006, makes provision for the issue of (subsection (1)), or refusal to issue (subsection (2) and (3)), a protection residence permit. The section also provides (subsection (4)) for notification to the applicant and the UNHCR of the granting or, as the case may be, the refusal to grant a protection residence permit.

Section 75, based on section 15 of the Refugee Act 1996 and paragraphs (9) and (10) of the Second Schedule to that Act, provides for the establishment of the Protection Review Tribunal, whose functions are set out later in the Bill.

Section 76 is based on paragraphs (1) to (8) of the Second Schedule to the Refugee Act 1996 and deals with membership of the Tribunal.

Section 77, based on paragraphs (12) to (20) of the Second Schedule to the Refugee Act 1996, provides for the functions and powers of the chairperson. Subsections (8) and (9) enable the chairperson to deal with decisions of members of the Tribunal that he or she considers to be erroneous.

Section 78 sets out the role of a member of the Tribunal — to determine appeals under this Part of the Act. It primarily involves the transacting of business as assigned by the chairperson. Subsection (2) sets out the obligations of the Member in carrying out his or her role.

Section 79, based on section 16(1), (3), (4), (5), (6) and (7) of the Refugee Act 1996, provides that a protection applicant may appeal to the Protection Review Tribunal against a determination of the Minister that he or she is not a refugee or is not a person eligible for subsidiary protection.

Section 80, based on section 16(2), (8), (16A), (17) and (18) of the Refugee Act 1996, provides for the possible outcomes of an appeal to the Protection Review Tribunal.

Section 81, based section 16(2A), (2B) and (9) of the Refugee Act 1996, deals with the withdrawal or deemed withdrawal of an appeal.

Section 82, based section 16(2A), (2B) and (9) of the Refugee Act 1996, sets out the process for oral hearings under the Act.

Section 83, based section 16(16) of the Refugee Act 1996, provides for the matters and material to be considered by the Tribunal before deciding an appeal.

Section 84, based section 17(7) of the Refugee Act 1996 and Articles 32 and 34 of the Procedures Directive, makes provision for subsequent applications for protection in the State. By subsection (1), person who already applied for protection in the State may not, without the consent of the Minister, make a further application for protection in the State. Subsection (2) sets out the process for making a subsequent application for protection. By subsection (4), the Minister must consent to a subsequent application being made where the applicant has submitted new information which significantly adds to the likelihood that the applicant will qualify for protection in the State.

Section 85, based section 19(1) to (4) of the Refugee Act 1996, makes provision for the protection of the identity of applicants for protection.

Section 86, based section 19(4A) and (5) of the Refugee Act 1996, makes provision for the publication of decisions of the Tribunal. It reflects the Supreme Court Decision in Atanasov relating to access to decisions of the Refugee Appeals Tribunal and sets out the procedures to be followed in relation to access to decisions of the Protection Review Tribunal. Subsection (8) provides for the making of regulations by the Minister to provide for matters relating to the making available or publication of decisions of the Tribunal.

Section 87, based sections 12(4) and (22) of the Refugee Act 1996 and, consistent with Articles 27, 30 and 31 of the Procedures Directive, provides for the designation of safe countries of origin (subsections (1) and (2)) and the making of agreements with safe third countries for the transfer of protection applications (subsections (3) and (4)). It also contains the necessary arrangements to give effect to the “Dublin II” Regulation (subsections (3)).

PART 8

FURTHER PROVISIONS

Part 8 of the Bill contains general provisions.

Section 88, based on section 20 of the Refugee Act 1996, provides for certain offences pertaining to the making of statements or provision of documents which the person knows, or ought to know, to be false or misleading and the destruction, concealment, forgery, fraudulent alteration, sale supply or facilitation of unlawful use of identity documents.

Section 89, based on section (3) of the Immigration Act 2004, deals with the appointment of immigration officers, authorised officers and immigration registration officers for the purposes of the Act.

Section 90 deals with the appointment of medical inspectors for the purposes of the Act and is based on section (3) of the Immigration Act 2004.

Section 91 provides for the powers that may be exercised by an immigration officer for the purpose of performing any of his or her functions under the Act and is based on section 15 of the Immigration Act 2004.

Section 92 is based on section 8 of the Immigration Act 2003 and makes provision for the exchange of information relating to the operation and administration of the law about the entry into, presence in and removal from the State of foreign nationals.

Section 93, based on sections 8 and 9 of the Aliens Act 1935, continues the existing restrictions applicable to foreign nationals in relation to change of name.

Section 94 makes provision in relation to the marriage of a foreign national in the State. By subsection (1), the marriage of a foreign national and an Irish citizen does not, of itself, confer a right on that foreign national to enter or be present in the State. By subsection (2) a marriage contracted between two persons one of whom is or both of whom are foreign nationals is invalid in law unless the foreign national concerned has given 3 months notice of the proposed marriage to the Minister and the person is at the time of the marriage the holder of an entry permit issued for that purpose or a residence permit (other than a protection temporary residence permit or a non-renewable permit). Subsection (3) enables the Minister, upon application in the prescribed form, to grant an exemption from the residence permit requirement. The Minister may refuse to grant an exemption in the circumstances listed at subsection (4). A person to whom an application has been made in relation to the solemnisation of a proposed marriage is obliged (subsection (5)) to require the production of evidence of compliance with this section. That person must not solemnise the marriage in the absence of such evidence and must notify the Minister of the refusal to do so and the reasons for that refusal (subsection (6)). By subsection (7), a person who knowingly solemnises or permits the solemnisation of, is a party to, or facilitates such a form of marriage is guilty of an offence and liable to the penalties set out in section 100.

Section 95, based to a large extent on section 9A of the Refugee Act 1996, sets out the obligations of foreign nationals to provide biometric information to an immigration officer or a member of the Garda Síochána when required to do so. “Biometric information” is defined at section 4. Subsection (2) enables the type of biometric information required to be prescribed. Failure to provide the relevant data is an offence. Subsections (3) and (4) make special provision for the taking of biometric information from a person under 14 years of age. By subsection (5), a foreign national who does not co-operate fully in the taking of biometric information is deemed to have failed to comply with the conditions of his or her residence permit. Where that person is a protection applicant, he or she is deemed to have failed to make reasonable efforts to establish his or her identity and to have failed to co-operate as required at section 68. Subsections (7) and (8) make provision for the destruction of biometric information taken in circumstances where the foreign national to whom it relates becomes an Irish citizen.

Section 96 is based on section 4 of the Immigration Act 1999 and enables the Minister, by order, to exclude a foreign national from the State.

Section 97 is based on section 9 of the Immigration Act 2004 and imposes an obligation on persons engaged in passenger transport, the provision of lodging or sleeping accommodation on a commercial basis, the provision of education or certain prescribed businesses to display a statutory notice stating the effect of this Act and any directions given under it.

Section 98 is based on section 10 of the Immigration Act 2004 and sets out the duty of the manager or proprietor of certain premises, including a hotel or educational establishment, to keep a register of all foreign nationals enrolled in, attending at or staying in the premises and to produce such a register when required to do so by an immigration officer.

Section 99 is based on section 5 of the Illegal Immigrants (Trafficking) Act 2000 and deals with judicial review for the purposes of the Act. By subsection (2) an application for judicial review must be made within 14 days of the impugned decision. This period may be extended where the High Court is satisfied that substantial grounds exist for doing so. Subsection (3) sets out the circumstances where the High Court may not extend the period. By subsections (7) and (8) the High Court may award costs against a legal representative of an applicant who has initiated judicial review proceedings which are, in the opinion of the Court, on (e.g.) frivolous or vexatious grounds. An application for leave to apply for judicial review will not of itself (subsection (9)) suspend or prevent the transfer, or removal of a foreign national from the State unless the Court considers it necessary for that foreign national to be in the State in order to give instructions to his or her legal representatives (subsection (10)). Subsection (11) operates to prevent a foreign national, following the rejection of his or her protection application, from challenging his or her removal solely on the basis of information that was not available to the Minister or the Tribunal before the rejection of the application.

Section 100 sets out a range of penalties which shall apply to the offences provided for in the Act.

Section 101 is a standard regulation-making power.

Section 102 is based on section 6 of the Immigration Act 1999 and provides for matters pertaining to the service of notices for the purposes of the Act.

Section 103 empowers the Minister to delegate to another Minister or, by order, to any other person any of the Minister’s functions under this Act.

Section 104 is a standard provision which provides for the repeal of current legislation and sets out transitional arrangements.

Section 105 restates, with no change of substance, section 11 of the Immigration Act 2004.

Section 106 provides for the exchange of information (including biometric information) about a foreign national with another state and the making of arrangements with other states for those purposes.

Financial implications
The Bill is expected to generate efficiencies in the State’s immigration and protection processes with consequent savings in costs to the Exchequer.
