5. Proxies, observers (as for local observers, only through qualification certificates on involvement in the electoral commission or carrying out an observation mission), mass media representatives and members of superior electoral commissions may be present at the polling station apart from the members of the electoral commission and the voters. The candidate may be present at the polling station only for the purpose of participating in the voting.

6. No more than 15 voters may simultaneously be present in the voting room. For the purpose of ensuring the smooth voting process, the chairperson of the precinct electoral commission shall be entitled to admit electors to the voting room one by one. In case of impossibility to ensure the implementation of this point by the electoral commission, it shall be ensured by the support of the Police, upon the request of the chairperson of the precinct electoral commission.

7. The Central Electoral Commission shall be obliged to create additional opportunities for the purpose of making the voting available for electors facing difficulties with participation in the voting process, ensuring the opportunity of free expression of the will of the voter and confidentiality of the voting.

Article 64. Registration of electors

1. Electors personally participate in voting; voting by proxy shall be prohibited. Each elector shall register in the list of electors held by the member of the electoral commission responsible for registration.

2. The member of the electoral commission responsible for registration of electors shall check the elector's identification, find his or her name in the list of electors, fill in the details of the identification document in the blank column next to the name, and the elector shall sign next to the details, in the column intended for elector's signature. The member of the electoral commission carrying out the registration shall put his or her individual seal in the relevant column, next to the signature of the elector. When the elector is not able to sign in the list of electors by himself or herself, he or she shall be entitled to seek help from other citizens, except from the members of the electoral commission.

3. Identification document shall be the national passport (without biometrical data), the identification card or the temporary document replacing the national passport or the identification card issued by the authorised body; for military servicemen it shall be the military service certificate or the military service record card, where they register (vote) in the list of electors drawn up by the given military unit. Conscript soldiers, who have been granted a temporary leave as prescribed by the legislation, shall vote in the places of their residence with the military service record cards, by also submitting the carbon copy of a document on having been granted a temporary leave from compulsory military service.

The fact of expiry of the validity of an elector's identification document shall not be a ground for not admitting him or her to voting.

Article 65. Voting

1. During the voting, each citizen shall receive one ballot paper (or ballot papers, if several polls are held simultaneously) and one ballot envelope (or envelopes, if several polls are held simultaneously).

2. Immediately after being registered, the elector shall approach the commission member responsible for handing out ballot papers and ballot envelopes. The commission member shall tear the stub of the ballot paper (or ballot papers, if several elections are held simultaneously) and give the bottom part of the ballot paper to the elector, together with the ballot envelope. The elector shall proceed to the voting booth to cast a vote.

3. The elector shall fill in the ballot paper in the voting booth, in a confidential manner. It shall be prohibited to enquire, in any manner, about the vote of the elector.

4. Electors, who are unable to fill in the ballot papers on their own, shall have the right to invite — after notifying the chairperson of the precinct electoral commission — another person into the voting booth, who shall not be a member of electoral commission or a proxy. The person shall have the right to assist only one elector who is unable to fill in the ballot paper by himself or herself. Except for the said case, the presence of another person in the voting booth at the time of filling in the ballot paper shall be prohibited. The particulars of the person assisting the elector unable to fill in the ballot paper on his or her own shall be entered in the register of the precinct electoral commission.

5. If the elector finds that he or she has filled in the ballot paper incorrectly or has spoiled it, he or she may apply to the chairperson of the commission for receiving a new ballot paper. Upon the assignment of the chairperson of the precinct electoral commission, the elector shall be provided with a new ballot paper, and a relevant entry shall be made in the list of electors next to the given elector's first name and the last name. A stub shall be attached to the incorrectly filled in (spoiled) ballot paper, and the latter shall be cancelled immediately.

6. The member of the electoral commission responsible for providing ballot papers and ballot envelopes shall, as prescribed by the Central Electoral Commission, arrange the stubs of ballot papers by their sequence and deliver those to the chairperson of the precinct electoral commission. The latter shall place those in a fire-resistant safe in separate bundles.

7. It shall be prohibited to communicate information about the voting at the polling station.

After the voting, the elector shall immediately leave the polling station.

During the voting, it shall be prohibited for the candidate to stay at the polling station or at the area up to 50 metres away from the polling station, except for the case of participation in the voting.

Article 66. Procedure for filling in the ballot paper and sealing the ballot envelope

1. Electors shall put a uniform mark — in accordance with the manner defined by the Central Electoral Commission — in the tick box next to the name of the candidate and political party (alliance of political parties) they are voting for.

2. When one candidate is voted upon, the elector shall mark the square next to the word “for”, if he or she wants to vote for the candidate, or next to the word “against”, if he or she wants to vote against the candidate.

3. After marking the ballot paper, the elector shall fold the ballot paper while in the voting booth, put it in the ballot envelope, and approach the ballot box. In case where several polls are taking place simultaneously, the elector shall put each ballot paper in the appropriate ballot envelope.

4. The member of the commission responsible for putting a seal on the ballot envelope and for the ballot box shall seal the ballot envelope and allow the elector to drop the ballot envelope into the ballot box only after checking the absence of a stamp seal in the elector’s identification document pertaining to participation in the given elections, and in case no such stamp is present, only after putting such stamp seal on the elector’s identification document. When the elector’s identification document already contains a stamp seal confirming the participation of the elector in the current elections, the commission member shall inform, through the chairperson of the commission, the police officers on duty about the attempt to commit a crime, shall remove the ballot paper from the ballot envelope, return the envelope to the commission member handing out ballot papers and ballot envelopes, and attaching any stub to the ballot paper, shall immediately cancel the ballot as prescribed by the Central Electoral Commission. At his or her own initiative or at the request of another commission member or the proxy, the commission member responsible for sealing ballot envelopes and for the ballot box may verify (submit to another commission member or a proxy) the identification document of the elector.

The commission member, who is responsible for sealing the ballot envelopes and for the ballot box, shall stamp the ballot envelope, open the ballot box slot and enable the elector to drop the ballot envelope into the ballot box. The ballot envelope shall be sealed by the seal of the precinct electoral commission. At the entire voting process, this seal shall remain near the ballot box in a place visible to all.

5. For the purpose of putting a stamp seal on identification documents, precinct electoral commissions shall be provided with a substance which remains for at least 12 hours after stamping, and then disappears.

6. If the commission member or the proxy finds that cases of violations of voting procedures have taken place during the voting process as stipulated by this Code, he or she has the right to require for his or her opinion to be recorded in the register.

CHAPTER 13PROCEDURE FOR SUMMARISATION AND TABULATION OF VOTING RESULTS, DETERMINATION OF INACCURACIES AND SUMMARISATION OF ELECTION
RESULTS*Article 67. Procedure for summarisation of voting results in electoral precincts

1. At 20:00, the chairperson of the precinct electoral commission shall declare about the end of the voting and forbid the entry of electors into the voting room. The commission shall allow the electors already present at the voting room to cast their votes, after which the chairperson of the commission shall close the ballot box slot.

2. The precinct electoral commission shall start its sitting for summarising voting results with the attendance of persons entitled to be present at the commission sitting (the candidate may also participate in this sitting). For this purpose, it shall:

(1) package and seal the individual seals of commission members, place those in the sack intended for election documents;

(2) count the total number of unused, incorrectly filled in (spoiled) and returned ballot papers, and cancel unused ballot papers as prescribed by the Central Electoral Commission, package them, seal the package and place it in the sack;

(3) package the stubs of used ballot papers, seal the package, and place it in the sack;

(4) separately count the number of electors in each supplementary list of electors (including supplementary lists drawn up at the electoral precinct on the voting day), add the number of electors from the list of electors to that of supplementary ones, thus arriving at the total number of electors in the electoral precinct;

(5) count the number of electors who has participated in the voting (i.e. have received ballot papers), based on the signatures of the electors in the list of electors (including supplementary lists), package the said lists, seal the package and place it in the sack.

3. The results of the actions defined in part 2 of this Article shall be published as well as recorded in the register. The chairperson of the commission shall immediately inform — through available means of communication — the chairperson of the constituency electoral commission on the number of the voting participants in the electoral precinct. Upon the request of the proxy, the latter shall be given an excerpt from the register about the number of voting participants, certified by the signatures of the commission chairperson and the secretary, and bear the seal of the commission.

The precinct electoral commission shall collect the unused ballot envelopes and package those, for the purpose of submission thereof to the constituency electoral commission along with the sack of election documents. The package of the unused ballot envelopes shall not be put in the sack.

4. The chairperson of the precinct electoral commission shall open the ballot box, take one ballot envelope out of the ballot box, and announce out loud whether the envelope is of established sample or not, then demonstrate it in such a way that it is visible to those present. If requested, the ballot envelope shall be passed on to the other commission members. If a commission member disagrees with the opinion of the commission chairperson, he or she shall raise an objection. Based on the results of a vote where an objection is raised (the commission member's proposal is put to a vote, and if the proposal is not adopted by voting, the commission chairperson's proposal is considered to be adopted), or based on the original announcement of the commission chairperson where no objection is raised, the commission chairperson shall take the ballot paper out of the ballot envelope of the established sample, announce whether the ballot paper is valid or invalid, of non-established sample, and, if it is valid, who it is for, then demonstrate it in such a way that it is visible to those present. If requested, the ballot paper shall be passed on to the other commission members. If a commission member disagrees with the opinion of the commission chairperson, he or she shall raise an objection. Based on the results of a vote where an objection is raised (the commission member's proposal is put to a vote, if the commission member's proposal is not adopted by voting, the commission chairperson's proposal is considered to be adopted), or based on the original announcement of the commission chairperson where no objection is raised, the chairperson shall, according to the marking of the ballot paper, put the ballot paper in the package of ballot papers cast for the respective candidate or political party (alliance of political parties), and where there is only one candidate, in the packages of "for" or "against" or invalid ballot papers, and put the ballot envelope in the package of ballot envelopes of established sample, after which the commission chairperson shall take the next envelope out of the ballot box.

This procedure shall be repeated in relation to all the ballot envelopes in the ballot box. During the sorting of ballot envelopes and ballot papers, commission members shall be prohibited from making any notes as well as having with them any pens, pencils or other items for making notes.

5. Where more than one ballot paper for the same poll or a ballot paper (ballot papers) of non-established sample are found in a ballot envelope, the ballot paper (ballot papers) shall be placed back into the envelope, and the envelope shall be placed in the package of ballot envelopes of non-established sample.

If the ballot envelope is of non-established sample, the ballot paper inside such envelope shall not be taken out, and the ballot envelope shall be placed in the package of ballot envelopes of non-established sample.

Ballot envelopes of non-established sample together with the ballot papers inside them shall be immediately cancelled and packaged. The said package shall be submitted to the constituency electoral commission without being placed in the sack.

6. After having sorted all the ballot envelopes and ballot papers in the ballot box, in the presence of commission members, the commission chairperson shall count one by one all the invalid ballot papers inside the ballot envelopes of established sample, as well as ballot papers cast for every candidate or political party (alliance of political parties), or, where only one candidate is voted upon, the ballot papers cast for or against the candidate. The calculated numbers shall be published as well as recorded in the register.

7. Ballot envelopes and ballot papers of non-established sample shall not be considered and counted when summarising the results.

8. The counted and sorted ballot envelopes and ballot papers shall be packaged; the packages shall be sealed and placed in the sack, as prescribed by the Central Electoral Commission.

The packages must bear the signature of the chairperson of the commission. The other commission members and proxies shall also be entitled to sign the packages or stamp them with their own stamp. The first names and the last names of the signatories shall be recorded and samples of the signature or the stamp shall be put in the register.

9. The proxies, observers, mass media representatives may photograph and videotape the process of summarising the voting results.

10. If several elections are held simultaneously, the precinct electoral commission shall, first of all, summarise the voting results of the national elections; moreover, if elections of the President of the Republic are held with other elections, the precinct electoral commission shall, first of all, summarise the voting results of the elections of the President of the Republic; in case of elections to the National Assembly — the voting results of the elections under the proportional electoral system; and in case of local self-government elections — the voting results of the elections to the community Council of Elders.

Article 68. Validity of ballot papers

1. A ballot paper of established sample shall be invalid where:

(1) it contains markings for more than one candidate, political party (alliance of political parties);

(2) it contains markings both next to the words “for” and “against”, when one candidate is voted upon;

(3) it contains no marking;

(4) it contains another marking disclosing the identity of the elector, apart from the mark established by the Central Electoral Commission for voting or the one similar to that;

(5) it is not signed, stamped or sealed by a member of the electoral commission, with the latter’s own stamp or individual seal;

(6) the defined manner of marking the ballot paper is breached apparently. An insignificant breach shall not serve as a basis for invalidity of the ballot paper, if the elector’s intention is clear and unambiguous.

2. A ballot paper shall be valid, if it is not invalid.

Article 69. Ballot papers of non-established sample

1. A ballot paper shall be of non-established sample, where it differs from the established sample, as well as:

(1) the one that is in the ballot envelope of non-established sample;

(2) the ballot papers in cases when there is more than one ballot paper in the envelope;

(3) the ballot papers in the ballot box which are without a ballot envelope.

Article 70. Ballot envelopes of non-established sample

1. A ballot envelope shall be of non-established sample, where it obviously differs from the established sample, or the one that is not sealed, or is sealed with a different seal, as well as:

- (1) the ballot envelope containing no ballot paper;
- (2) the ballot envelope containing more than one ballot paper;
- (3) the ballot envelope containing a ballot paper of non-established sample;
- (4) the ballot envelope with markings disclosing the identity of the elector.

Article 71. Precinct electoral commission's protocol on voting results

1. Based on the calculations made in accordance with the procedure laid down in Article 67 of this Code, the Precinct Electoral Commission shall prepare a protocol on the results of voting in the electoral precinct, which shall include the following:

- (1) the number of electors separately for each supplementary list of electors,(including of those in the supplementary list drawn up at the electoral precinct on the voting day);
- (2) the total number of electors in the electoral precinct, which shall be equal to the number of electors in supplementary list of electors and in the main list of electors;
- (3) the number of voting participants (the number of signatures of the electors, who have registered and received ballot papers, shall be filled in);
- (4) the number of ballot papers and the numbers of stubs provided to the precinct electoral commission and the stub numbers (filled in by the constituency electoral commission);
- (5) the total number of cancelled ballot papers (unused or incorrectly filled in or spoiled and returned ballot papers by the electors);
- (6) the number of invalid ballot papers;
- (7) the number of ballot papers cast for each candidate or political party (alliance of political parties);
- (8) the number of ballot papers cast against a candidate (this line shall be indicated when one candidate is voted upon);
- (9) the number of ballot envelopes of established sample in the ballot box.

2. The protocol shall be signed by the chairperson, the secretary and the members of the commission; it is sealed by the chairperson of the commission.

3. The commission member shall be obliged to sign the protocol. Where the commission member has an objection (special opinion) with regard to the data in the protocol, he or she shall enter his or her opinion in writing in the protocol in the special place provided therefore.

4. The sitting of the precinct electoral commission may not be interrupted from the moment the voting is over until the preparation of the protocol on voting results in the electoral precinct.

5. The commission shall complete the protocol at the end of the sitting, but not later than 10 hours after the end of voting, and the commission chairperson shall publish the protocol on voting results in the electoral precinct.

6. The protocol shall be made in four carbon copies; one carbon copy shall be posted in the polling station next to the list of electors, and one carbon copy shall be placed in the sack of election documents.

7. The sack must bear the signature of the chairperson of the commission. The other commission members and proxies shall also be entitled to put a signature on the sack or to stamp it with their own stamp. The first names and the last names of the signatories shall be recorded and samples of the signature or the stamp shall be put in the register.

It shall be mandatory to close the sack of election documents at the precinct electoral commission. The chairperson of the commission shall be responsible for closing the sack — in the prescribed manner — at the precinct electoral commission.

8. An excerpt from the protocol on voting results in the electoral precinct shall be provided to persons — at their request — entitled to be present at the commission sitting; the excerpts shall be certified by the signatures of the commission chairperson and the secretary, and bear the seal of the commission.

9. Not later than during 12 hours after the end of voting, the chairperson and the secretary of the precinct electoral commission shall submit the sack, the package of ballot envelopes of non-established sample, the package of unused ballot envelopes, the two carbon copies of the protocol on voting results, the register, as well as the seal and the stamp seal of the commission, to the appropriate constituency electoral commission, as prescribed by the Central Electoral Commission.

Article 72. Procedure for determining the inaccuracies

1. In order to calculate the amount of inaccuracies in an electoral precinct:

(1) the number of ballot papers provided to the precinct electoral commission shall be compared with the sum of the numbers of cancelled ballot papers, valid ballot papers and that of the invalid ballot papers in the ballot box. If the number of ballot papers provided to the precinct electoral commission is smaller than the sum of the number of cancelled ballot papers, and of numbers of valid and invalid ballot papers in the ballot box, the difference - in its absolute value - shall be recorded as the first inaccuracy amount. Otherwise the first inaccuracy amount shall be recorded as "0";

(2) the number of signatures in the list of electors shall be compared with the sum of the numbers of valid and invalid ballot papers in the ballot box. If the sum of the numbers of valid and invalid ballot papers in the ballot box is greater than the number of signatures in the list of electors, the difference - in its absolute value - shall be recorded as the second inaccuracy value. Otherwise the second inaccuracy amount shall be recorded as "0";

(3) the number of used ballot stubs shall be compared with the sum of the numbers of valid and invalid ballot papers in the ballot box. The difference — in its absolute value — shall be recorded as the third inaccuracy value;

(4) the sum of the maximum number of the numbers mentioned in the first and second points of this Part and the number mentioned in the third point shall be considered the total amount of inaccuracies in the given electoral precinct.

2. The amount of inaccuracies in the electoral precinct shall be calculated and registered by the electoral commission responsible for the summarisation of voting results, by using the "Elections" automated system.

3. In case of declaring the results of voting in the electoral precinct invalid, the number of voting participants in the precinct shall be registered as total amount of inaccuracies in the precinct

4. In preparing the protocol on voting results, the number of electors, including those in supplementary lists, of the precinct where the results of voting were declared invalid, the number of voters, and that of registered ballot papers and numbers of stubs shall correspondingly be added to the results of voting in other precincts, while the number of cancelled ballot papers shall be the number of ballot papers provided to the given precinct. The other results of the protocol of the electoral precinct where the voting has been declared invalid, except for the amount of inaccuracies, shall be registered as "0".

Article 73. Measures implemented by the constituency electoral commissions after receiving the protocols of the precinct electoral commissions

1. The constituency electoral commission shall check the validity of preparation of the protocols on the voting results in the electoral precincts; if there are arithmetic errors, the chairperson and the secretary of the appropriate precinct electoral commission shall correct those and endorse the corrections with their signatures. The original data shall not be modified. The result at which the precinct electoral commission arrives at through counting the ballots one by one shall be considered as the baseline data.

2. The constituency electoral commission shall input the data in protocols on the electoral precinct voting results into a computer by means of special computer software, in the manner defined by the Central Electoral Commission. The software shall ensure reasonable guarantees against errors due to incorrect data input. The Commission shall regularly, but not less frequently than every three hours, tabulate the voting results in the constituency through a computer as per electoral precincts. The constituency electoral commission shall complete the input of data from protocols on voting results in electoral precinct into the computer not later than within eighteen hours after the end of voting. The constituency electoral commission shall tabulate the voting results as per electoral precincts.

3. A carbon copy of tabulated constituency voting results — endorsed by signatures of the commission chairperson (deputy chairperson) and the secretary as well as by the seal of the commission — shall immediately be posted at the commission in a place visible to everyone. Upon their request, persons entitled to be present at electoral commission sittings shall receive a carbon copy of tabulated constituency voting results, endorsed by signatures of the commission chairperson (deputy chairperson) and the secretary as well as by the seal of the commission.

The constituency electoral commission — twenty-four hours after the end of the voting — shall submit a carbon copy of the protocol on the voting results in electoral precinct to the Central Electoral Commission at national elections and elections to the Yerevan Council of Elders.

4. At national elections and elections to the Yerevan Council of Elders, the constituency electoral commission shall not make a protocol on summarisation of voting results in the constituency; it shall, for recount of voting results, examine the inaccuracies registered on the voting day in the registers of precinct electoral commissions within the time limits defined by this Code, summarise the results at its sitting, and submit the decision thereon to the Central Electoral Commission.

Article 74. Procedure for summarising, at constituency electoral commission, results of elections to the deputy of the National Assembly under the majoritarian electoral system and of local self-government elections

1. The constituency electoral commission shall, not later than within eighteen hours after the end of voting, in compliance with the requirements of this Article and based on the protocols on voting results in electoral precinct, summarise the preliminary results in the given constituency of the elections to the deputy of the National Assembly under the majoritarian electoral system and of local self-government elections and shall endorse them in the form of a protocol.

If, during voting, such violations of the requirements of this Code have been registered that could affect the voting results, the constituency electoral commission may declare the voting results in the given precinct invalid. In this case, the Central Electoral Commission or the constituency electoral commission shall submit the materials to the Prosecutor's Office.

2. On the fifth day after the voting day, the constituency electoral commission shall, based on the protocols on precinct voting results, the results of recounts and the adopted decisions on the voting results, draw up a protocol on the voting results in the constituency.

(3) the total number of voting participants (the number of signatures of the electors who registered and received ballot papers shall be filled in);

(4) the number of ballot papers provided to the precinct electoral commissions and the stub numbers;

(5) the total number of cancelled ballot papers at the precinct electoral commissions;

(6) the number of invalid ballot papers;

(7) the number of ballot papers cast for each candidate;

(8) the number of ballot papers cast against a candidate (this line shall be indicated when one candidate is voted on);

(9) the number of ballot envelopes of established sample in the ballot box ;

(10) the total amount of inaccuracies.

The total amount of inaccuracies in a constituency (community) shall be equal to the sum of the total inaccuracy values in the electoral precincts included in that constituency (community).

4. The protocol shall be signed by the members of the commission and shall be sealed by the commission chairperson.
5. The chairperson of the constituency electoral commission shall publish the protocol.
6. One carbon copy of the protocol shall be posted in a visible place at the commission immediately after the measures provided for by this Article are implemented.
7. A carbon copy of the protocol on voting results, signed by the commission chairperson and the secretary and stamped by the commission seal, shall be provided to persons entitled to be present at the commission sitting, upon their request.
8. On the fifth day after the voting day, the constituency electoral commission shall — based on the protocol on constituency voting results, court judgments, decisions made as a result of discussing applications (complaints) received by the commission, and the adopted decision on the violations registered on the voting day in the record books of precinct electoral commissions — summarise the voting results and adopt a decision on election results.
9. The constituency electoral commission shall submit carbon copies of the protocol and decision to the Central Electoral Commission within a two-day period.

Article 75. Procedure for summarising, at the Central Electoral Commission, of results of elections of the President of the Republic and of elections under the proportional electoral system

 - (2) the total number of electors (it is equal to the sum of the total number of electors from all the electoral precincts set up for elections);
 - (3) the number of voting participants;
 - (4) the number of ballot papers provided to the precinct electoral commissions and the stub numbers;
 - (5) the total number of cancelled ballot papers at the precinct electoral commissions;

(7) the number of ballot papers cast for each candidate, political party (alliance of political parties);

(8) the number of ballot papers cast against a candidate (this line shall be indicated when one candidate is voted on);

(10) the amount of inaccuracies.

In case of national elections, the total amount of inaccuracies shall be equal to the sum of the total amount of inaccuracy of all the electoral precincts set up.

5. The remaining mandates shall be allocated among electoral lists as per the sequence of remainder values, with the principle of one mandate to each. In case of equal remainder value, the contested mandate shall be given to such electoral list that has received the highest number of affirmative votes, and, in case of a tie, the matter shall be settled by drawing a lot.

6. A candidate, whose record number in the electoral list is less than, or equal to, the number of mandates available to that electoral list, shall be considered to be elected from the electoral lists. The Central Electoral Commission shall draw up a protocol on candidates elected as members of the Yerevan Council of Elders.

7. If the number of candidates included in the electoral list of a political party, an alliance of political parties is less than the number of mandates available as a result of allocation of mandates, these mandates shall be allocated among the electoral lists of other political parties, alliances of political parties having acquired the right to participate in the allocation of mandates, as per the sequence of remainder values, with the principle of one mandate to each.

8. The mandate of a member of the Council of Elders elected as a member of the Yerevan Council of Elders, whose powers have ceased early, shall be given to the next candidate in the electoral list of such political party, alliance of political parties upon the protocol of the Central Electoral Commission within a period of one week after the notification to the Commission. If there is no other candidate in the electoral list, the mandate shall be allocated with principle laid down by the first paragraph of part 7 of this Article.

9. Where in the course of voting, such violations of this Code have occurred that could have affected the election results, the Central Electoral Commission shall take a decision on holding a revote in certain electoral precincts, if thereby it is possible to remedy such violations. If it is not possible to thereby remedy these violations, elections to the Yerevan Council of Elders shall be declared invalid, and a revote for the elections to the Yerevan Council of Elders shall be called.

10. Where in the course of preparation of elections or in the course of holding a revote in certain electoral precincts, such violations of this Code have occurred that could have affected the election results, the Central Electoral Commission shall take a decision on declaring the elections to the Yerevan Council of Elders invalid and shall call a revote for the elections to the Yerevan Council of Elders.

11. Where the Central Electoral Commission takes a decision on holding a revote in certain electoral precincts, the revote shall be held on the seventh day following the adoption of this decision. In this case, the time limits prescribed by this Code for summarisation of the results of the elections to the Yerevan Council of Elders shall be calculated from the revote day.

12. An application on challenging the decision adopted on the result of elections to the Yerevan Council of Elders may be submitted to the Administrative Court of the Republic of Armenia by the procedure and within the time limits established by the Administrative Procedure Code of the Republic of Armenia.

13. In case of declaring the elections to the Yerevan Council of Elders invalid, not earlier than fourteen and not later than twenty-one days following the entry into force of the decision thereon, revote shall be held with the same composition of political parties, alliances of political parties, by the procedure prescribed by this Code.

14. Revote shall be held once. In case the elections are declared invalid after the revote, the Central Electoral Commission shall call a new election within a period of twenty-one days. New elections shall be held by new nomination of candidates and by the procedure and within the time limits prescribed by this Code for early elections.

15. In case of early termination of powers of a member of the Yerevan Council of Elders, within a period of one week after notifying the Commission thereof, this mandate shall be given to the next candidate in the electoral list of the political party, alliance of political parties, upon a protocol of the Central Electoral Commission.

PART III

CHAPTER 38

ADDITIONAL, TRANSITIONAL AND FINAL PROVISIONS

Article 166. Preferential voting

1. In preferential voting the left side of the ballot paper shall indicate last names, first names, patronymic names of all the candidates, and the right side shall include boxes for each candidate, where the voter makes notes. The order of the candidates' names shall be determined by lot. The ballot paper may be substituted by an electronic data file expressing the preferences.

2. The voter shall place "1" in the box against the candidate of his or her first preference. Integral successive numbers starting from "2" shall then respectively be placed in the boxes against the other candidates in the order of preference. No number shall be placed in the boxes against those candidates to whom the voter gives no preference, but, in any case, he or she must have at least expressed preference for candidates equal to the number of vacancies. At a particular stage of summarisation of voting results the ballot paper shall be deemed in favour of the continuing candidate who has got the most number of preference votes in that ballot paper.

3. The following definitions shall apply in this Article:

(1) continuing candidate — candidate who is neither excluded nor declared as elected at a certain stage of summarisation of voting results;

(2) value of a ballot paper — numerical value given to the ballot paper in the manner prescribed by this Article at a certain stage of summarisation of voting results;

(3) total value of ballot papers — the sum total of values of all ballot papers not excluded from the counting at a certain stage of summarisation of voting results;

(4) value of candidate's votes — the sum total of values of ballot papers - cast in favour of the candidate - that are not excluded from the counting;

(5) passing quota — the minimum number of votes necessary for being deemed to be elected at a certain stage of summarisation of voting results;

(6) value of candidate's surplus votes — the difference between the passing quota and the value of the candidate's votes deemed to be elected at a certain stage of summarisation of the voting results;

(7) gender equality standard — a quantitative standard ensuring gender equality between the elected candidates (for instance, the number of representatives of each gender among the elected candidates shall not be more than 6).

4. The voting results shall be summarised electronically. For the summarisation of the voting results, the following steps shall in turn be taken until the summarisation of the voting results is completed. All the arithmetical actions shall be done with the accuracy of 2 digits after the decimal point.

Step 1. Invalid ballot papers shall be excluded from the counting. The ballot paper shall be deemed invalid if no preference given to candidates at least equal to the number of vacant positions is indicated therein, or more than one candidate has obtained the same number of preference votes. All valid ballot papers shall be deemed not excluded from the counting, and the value of those ballot papers shall be "1".

Step 2. Ballot papers cast in favour of candidates not excluded from the counting shall be sorted by candidates. All candidates shall be deemed to be continuing candidates.

Step 3. If the election of a representative of one of the genders a priori violates the gender equality standard:

- a. all the representatives of that gender shall be excluded from the counting;
- b. their ballot papers shall be distributed in the following manner: the ballot paper with the same value shall be added to the ballot papers of the continuing candidates in whose favour the ballot paper is cast.

Step 4. If the number of all the elected candidates equals to the number of vacancies, the summarisation of the voting results shall be completed.

If the number of all the elected candidates is smaller than the number of vacancies, but the maintenance of gender equality standard unequivocally determines the candidates who are to fill the vacancies, these candidates shall also be deemed to be elected, and the summarisation of the voting results shall be completed.

Step 5. The value of candidate's votes shall be calculated for each continuing candidate. Based on these calculations, the total value of the ballot papers shall be calculated, which shall be the sum total of votes of the continuing candidate.

The passing quota shall be calculated in accordance with the following formula:

$$\text{Passing quota} = \text{Total value of ballot papers} / \text{Number of vacant seats} + 1) + 0.01$$

Step 6. Where there is no continuing candidate whose total value of votes is higher than or equal to the passing quota, the process of summarisation of voting results shall resume from Step 10.

Step 7. The continuing candidate, whose total value of votes is the highest, shall be deemed as elected.

Step 8. For the elected candidate, the value of surplus votes, which equals the difference of the value of the candidate's votes and the passing quota, shall be counted. A new value of vote shall be given to each ballot paper cast in favour of the candidate. In order to count it, the value of vote of the ballot paper shall be multiplied with the value of the surplus votes and divided by the value of the candidate's votes.

Step 9. All ballot papers of an elected candidate shall be re-distributed through the following procedure: the ballot paper shall be added to ballot papers of the candidate in favour of whom it is cast. Where there is no such continuing candidate, the ballot paper shall be excluded from the counting and shall never be used during the following summarisation steps. The summarisation of the voting results shall proceed with step 3.

Step 10. A continuing candidate with the lowest value of votes shall be excluded from the counting unless it a priori violates the gender equality standard. In case it violates the gender equality standard, the candidate having received the minimum votes, whose exclusion will not a priori violate the gender equality standard, shall be excluded from the counting. Where due to tie of votes it is impossible to determine the candidate having received the minimum votes, the candidate to be excluded shall be determined by drawing lots.

Ballot papers of the candidate excluded from the counting shall be distributed through the following procedure: ballot paper shall - with the same value - be added to the ballot papers of the continuing candidate in favour of whom it is cast. The summarisation of the voting results shall proceed with Step 3.
