Chapter I - The Principality

Art. 1

1) The Principality of Liechtenstein is a State consisting of two regions with eleven communes. It is based upon the principle of enabling the people residing within its borders to live in peace and freedom. The region of Vaduz (Oberland) consists of the communes of Vaduz, Balzers, Planken, Schaan, Triesen and Triesenberg; the region of Schellenberg (Unterland) consists of the communes of Eschen, Gamprin, Mauren, Ruggell and Schellenberg.

2) Vaduz is the capital and the seat of the Diet and the Government.

Art. 2

The Principality is a constitutional, hereditary monarchy on a democratic and parliamentary basis (Arts. 79 and 80), the power of the State is inherent in and issues from the Prince Regnant and the People and shall be exercised by both in accordance with the provisions of the present Constitution.

Art. 3

The succession to the throne, hereditary in the Princely House of Liechtenstein, the coming-of-age of the Prince Regnant and of the Heir Apparent, as well as any guardianship which may be required, are to be determined by the Princely House in the form of a dynasty law.

Art. 4

1) Changes in the boundaries of the territory of the State may only be made by a law. Boundary changes between communes and the union of existing ones also require a majority decision of the citizens residing there who are entitled to vote.

2) Individual communes have the right to secede from the State. A decision to initiate the secession procedure shall be taken by a majority of the citizens residing there who are entitled to vote. Secession shall be regulated by a law or, as the case may be, a treaty. In the latter event, a second ballot shall be held in the commune after the negotiations have been completed.

Art. 7

1) The Prince Regnant is the Head of State and shall exercise his sovereign authority in conformity with the provisions of the present Constitution and of the other laws.

In urgent cases he shall take the necessary measures for the security and welfare of the State.

2) Emergency decrees may not set aside the Constitution as a whole or individual provisions of it but may only limit the applicability of individual provisions. Emergency decrees can neither limit every person's right to life, the prohibition of torture an inhuman treatment or the prohibition of slavery and forced labour nor place any restriction on the "no punishment without law" rule. I learned with deep satisfaction that the Diet of My Principality at its meeting of 24 August 1921, unanimously adopted the new Constitution. In granting My sovereign approval to that decision, I express the sincere wish and the hope that just as the representatives of My People have reached unanimous agreement, without distinction as to political parties, on the creation of such an important legislative work for the country, the same spirit of unanimity shall also unite the People of My Country in peaceful work for the lasting good of the whole and every part thereof with the long-established cooperation of State and Church which may also continue with the blessing of God and that on the foundation of the new Constitution My People and My Country may enjoy renewed happiness and great prosperity.

I would have liked to sign the Constitutional Deed in person at Vaduz, the capital of My Country, among My trusted and beloved People, as I was requested. To my sincere regret, I am prevented from doing so at the present time for reasons of health.

However, to demonstrate my joy at the completion of this great work of reform and to give My Country a token of My fatherly love, I entrust, in accordance with Art. 13 of the new Constitution, my beloved nephew who is now in the Country, H.S.H.
