“Section 34 of the principal Law shall be read, interpreted and apply as if, instead of any reference to the General Returning Officer, reference was made to the Returning Officer of its own polling district provided that the result of the election in every polling district shall be sent to the General Returning Officer with the safest way under the circumstances.”
candidates and their counting agents, but no other persons except with the sanction of the Presiding Officer, may be present at the counting of the votes.

(4) Each ballot box shall be opened at the polling station under the supervision and responsibility of the Presiding Officer and in the presence of the counting agents and the independent candidates, the counting of votes shall begin. Upon the completion of the counting of votes, the Presiding Officer shall forward the result of the election and transfer the ballot box with its context and all relevant documents to the Returning Officer of the respective polling district.

(5) The Presiding Officer shall so far as practicable proceed continuously with counting the votes and shall endorse "rejected" on any ballot papers which he may reject as invalid.

(6) When the counting of the votes has been completed the Returning Officer shall forthwith declare the candidate to whom the greatest number of votes is given to be elected, if such number of votes exceeds fifty per centum of the total number of votes validly cast.

(7) If no candidate receives more than fifty per centum of the total number of votes validly cast, a new poll shall be taken, on a day to be appointed by the Minister for the purpose, between the two candidates who had been given the greatest number of votes at the previous poll, and the candidate who is given the greater number of votes at the second poll shall be declared by the Returning Officer to be elected.

(8) In any case where there is reasonable doubt as to the result of an election the Returning Officer of the electoral division may, either of his own motion or upon the application of any candidate or his counting agent, order a recount to be taken before making a declaration of the result of the election.

(9) Upon the completion of the counting, and after the result has been declared by him, the Returning Officer shall seal up the ballot papers and all other documents relating to the election as required by this Law and shall, subject to the provisions of the next succeeding sub-section, retain the same for a period of six months and thereafter shall cause them to be destroyed unless otherwise directed by order of the Minister.

(10) The President of the Supreme Court may make an order that any ballot paper or other document relating to an election which has been sealed as required by this Law be inspected, copied, or produced at such time and place and subject to such conditions as the President of the Supreme Court may deem expedient, but shall not make such an order unless he is satisfied that such inspection, copy or production is required for the purpose of instituting or maintaining a prosecution or an election petition in connection with the election. Save as aforesaid, no person shall be allowed to inspect any such ballot paper or document after it has been sealed up in pursuance of sub-section (9) of this section.

35.- (1) The Presiding Officer shall reject as invalid the following ballot papers only, namely any booklet-

(a) the cover of which has not been stamped, or perforated with the official mark of, or initialed by, the Presiding Officer;

(b) in which more than one ballot paper appears to have been marked by the elector;

(c) the ballot papers in which contain any writing or mark by which the elector can be identified; or

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (1), any ballot paper containing in any part of its column which corresponds to each candidate and in the space under his photograph therein, one of the marks “X” “✚” or “V” or any other mark resembling them, shall be deemed valid.

(3) Before rejecting any ballot papers the Presiding Officer shall show them to each candidate or his counting agent if present and hear his views thereon.

(4) The decision of the Presiding Officer whether or not any ballot papers shall be rejected shall be final and shall not be questioned on an election petition.

36. The General Returning Officer shall forthwith after the result has been declared by him-

(a) certify by endorsement on the writ the return of the person elected and shall return to the Minister the writ so endorsed;

(b) publish in the Official Gazette of the Republic the name of the person so elected.

37.—(1) If an election is not held on the appointed day it shall be held on the day next following the appointed day. If the election is not held on such next day, the Minister shall appoint a day on which the election shall be held.

(2) If the Minister shall appoint a day for the holding of an election under the provisions of sub-section (1), the Returning Officer shall publish and keep published for six days before the date thereof notice of such election and save as aforesaid such election shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of this Law.

38.-(1) No election shall be invalid by reason of any failure to comply with the provisions of this Law relating to elections if it appears that the election was conducted in accordance with the principles laid down in such provisions and that such failure did not affect the result of the election.

(2) Where in this Law any act or thing is required or authorized to be done in the presence of the candidates or their agents, the non-attendance of the candidates or agents at the time and place appointed for the purpose shall not, if that act or thing is otherwise duly done, invalidate that act or thing.

39.-(1) Every person who-
