If less than 60 percent of all voters participating in the election vote for the lists of candidates involved in the distribution of mandates, the list of candidates (lists of candidates if an equal amount of votes is cast for them) which has not taken part in the distribution of mandates up till then and which receives the votes of the majority of the voters shall be eligible to take part in the distribution of mandates. 2. Mandates for lists of candidates shall be distributed according to the number of votes received by each of them, applying the method of largest remainder.

3. The quota shall be counted, that is, how many votes are needed to receive one mandate. It shall be equal to the sum of votes, divided by the number of members of the European Parliament which are being elected, cast by voters for the lists participating in the distribution of mandates. If a remainder is received when dividing, one shall be added to the quotient.

4. The amount of votes cast for each list of candidates shall be divided by the quota. The received integer quotient shall be the number of mandates for each list according to the quota and the remainders of this division shall be used to distribute according to the remainders the remaining mandates to the lists of candidates participating in the distribution of mandates. Therefore, all names of the lists of candidates participating in the distribution of mandates shall be written down in succession in which the first follows the last, according to the size of the remainders of the dividing received by the lists, beginning with the largest. If the remainders of two lists are equal, the first written down shall be the list which has received more votes of voters and if these numbers are also equal, the first written down shall be the list which possesses the smaller election number. The mandates which have not been distributed when distributing by the method of quotas shall be distributed by one to the lists according to the succession, beginning with the list which was written down first.

In the event when the sum total of the candidate's preference votes is bigger than the number of members of the European Parliament who are being elected or such sum is equal to the said number, the election rating of the candidate shall be equal to that sum, if it is smaller - the election rating of the candidate shall be considered to be equal to zero.

3. The final order of candidates in each list shall be established according the points of the rating received by each candidate. The first written down in the succession shall be the candidate who has received more points of the election rating.
