Information that a lawyer has received from or via his or her party shall not be covered, if the lawyer is assessing the legal situation for that party or if the lawyer is defending or representing that party in or in connection with judicial proceedings.

2) The Financial Intelligence Unit may, in connection with the fulfilment of its responsibilities under article 5 of the FIU Act, demand information from persons subject to due diligence about non-personal data relating to business relationships for statistical purposes. This provision is subject to legal provisions governing the protection of secrecy.

3) The Financial Intelligence Unit may set a reasonable deadline for transmitting the information. In justified cases, it may extend the deadline.

4) The prohibition of disclosure as set out in article 18b as well as the exclusion of criminal and civil liability as set out in article 19 shall apply mutatis mutandis.

6) All other persons subject to due diligence shall be inspected by the FMA or at the request of the FMA by auditors or auditing companies with respect to compliance with the provisions of this Act. The aforementioned persons subject to due diligence may submit two proposals for auditors or auditing companies stating their preference. The FMA shall
