2. The statute of limitations for execution of a judgment of conviction shall run from the coming into effect of the judgment until the commencement of execution of the judgment.
3. Where, after a judgment becomes effective, the convict evades the serving of the sentence, the statute of limitations shall stop running. In this case, the period shall resume running from the day when the convict arrives to serve the sentence or is arrested. However, the judgment may not be executed where fifteen years have lapsed since its coming into effect, and twenty years have lapsed in the case of imposition of a custodial sentence for a term exceeding ten years or of a life custodial sentence, and the statute of limitations has not stopped running due to commission of a new criminal act.

The persons convicted of commission of a crime in respect of whom a judgment of conviction passed by a court of the Republic of Lithuania or another Member State of the European Union has become effective shall be considered as persons having previous conviction. The persons convicted of commission of a crime in a non-EU Member State, provided that a notice of the coming into effect of a judgment of conviction passed by a court of that state is received under international treaties of the Republic of Lithuania, shall also be considered as persons having previous conviction. The court shall take previous conviction into consideration when imposing a penalty for the commission of a new criminal act, deciding the issue of the offender's release from a penalty or criminal liability, also when identifying the person as a repeat offender.
2. Previous conviction may be a basis for restricting only those rights and freedoms of citizens whose restriction is provided for by laws of the Republic of Lithuania.

7. After the lapse of a least one half of the term of conviction, the court may, at the request of the convict, reduce the term of conviction or expunge the conviction.

8. Where a person who has a previous conviction commits a new crime or misdemeanour, the term until the expiry of previous conviction shall stop running. In such a case, the term until the expiry of the conviction for the previous criminal act shall start to run from the serving of the penalty for the new crime or misdemeanour. The person shall be considered as having previous conviction for each criminal act until the expiry of conviction for the most serious of the acts.

9. When imposing a penalty for the commission of a new criminal act, deciding on the release of the offender from the penalty or criminal liability, also recognising the person as a dangerous repeat offender, the court shall not take into account an effective judgment of conviction passed by the court of another state as referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article where:

- 2) the committed act is not regarded as a crime under this Code;
- 3) at the time of commission of a criminal act, the person was not of the age at which the act committed by him becomes subject to criminal liability under criminal laws of the Republic of Lithuania;

At least once every six months, the court must make a determination on the basis of the findings of a health care establishment as regards extension of compulsory medical treatment, change of type thereof or discontinuation thereof.

7. Where there is no necessity to subject a person to compulsory medical treatment, also where the court cancels application thereof, the person may be transferred by the court into the custody or guardianship of his relatives or other persons and may concurrently be subjected to medical observation.
